The Risk factors have been determined on the basis of their materiality. The following factors have been considered for determining the materiality:

1. Some events may have material impact quantitatively;
2. Some events may have material impact qualitatively instead of quantitatively.
3. Some events may not be material individually but may be found material collectively.
4. Some events may not be material at present but may be having material impact in future

Unless specified or quantified in the relevant risk factors below, we are not in a position to quantify the financial or other implications of any of the risks described in this section. The prospective investors should pay particular attention to the fact that our Company is incorporated under the laws of India and is subject to a legal and regulatory environment, which may differ in certain respects from that of other countries.

Classification of Risk Factors:

The risk factors are classified as under for the sake of better clarity and increased understanding:

INTERNAL RISK FACTORS:

- 1. Our business is substantially dependent on certain key customers, from whom we derive a significant portion of our revenues. The loss of any significant customer may have a material and adverse effect on our business and results of operations

At present, a substantial portion of our revenue is derived from a number of key customers. Our top ten customers have contributed 44.00%, 43.35% and 48.18% of our total sales for the financial years ended March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024 and March 31, 2023 respectively. Our business lies in the strength of our relationship with the customers who have been associated with our Company. This customer concentration exposes us to the risk that the loss of, or a significant reduction in orders from, any of these key customers could result in a substantial decline in sales, disrupt cash flow, and hinder the company's ability to sustain operations effectively. Such a loss may further compound the risk that could arise from factors like changes in customer preferences, price sensitivity, competition, or even economic downturns that affect customer budgets. The ability to replace lost business in a timely manner remains uncertain could severely impact the company's profitability, operational stability, and long-term growth prospects. At present, we derive most of our revenues from the orders received from the limited or prime customers.

In the Financial Year ended March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024, and March 31, 2023; as per financials, the contributions of our top 5 and top 10 customers are as follows:

(Amount Rs in lakhs)

Particulars	For Financial Year ended on March 31, 2025		For Financial Year ended on March 31, 2024		For Financial Year ended on March 31, 2023
	Amount	% of Sales	Amount	% of Sales	Amount	% of Sales
Top 5	1,456.28	29.95	1,466.15	33.39	1,622.32	35.35
Top 10	2,139.46	44.00	1,903.44	43.35	2,211.33	48.18

To sustain and enhance our revenue, our focus is on attracting new customers and tap into untapped market segments. While we strive to ensure prompt and full payment from key contributors to our revenue stream.

- We are highly dependent on our suppliers for uninterrupted supply of Raw-Materials. Any shortfall in the supply of our raw materials, or an increase in our raw material costs and other input costs, may adversely affect the pricing and supply of our products with subsequently having an adverse effect on the business, results of operations and financial conditions of our company.

We procure our supply of raw materials from various suppliers depending upon the price and quality of raw materials. However, our Top 10 suppliers contribute significantly to supply of raw materials. Raw materials are subject to supply disruptions and price volatility caused by various factors such as commodity market fluctuations, the quality and availability of raw materials, currency fluctuations, consumer demand, changes in government policies and regulatory sanctions. Any disruption of supply of raw materials from these suppliers will adversely affect our operations. The contributions of our top 5 and top 10 suppliers are as follows:

(Amount Rs. in lakhs)

Particulars	For Financial Year ended on March 31, 2025		For Financial Year ended on March 31, 2024		For Financial Year ended on March 31, 2023
	Amount	% of Purchases	Amount	% of Purchases	Amount	% of Purchases
Top 5	3456.15	83.02	2663.83	71.57	4096.63	84.10
Top 10	3856.17	92.63	3222.53	86.58	4547.68	93.36

The expansive pool of suppliers within our industry reduces the potential impact of the loss of any individual supplier on our production processes and consequently our overall profitability. This diversified procurement strategy contributes significantly to the operational continuity and uphold the quality standards that define our business.

- Our cost of production is exposed to fluctuations in the prices of our major raw material, especially of paper.

We are exposed to fluctuations in the prices of goods we purchase and may be unable to control factors affecting the price directly or indirectly at which we procure such materials, particularly as we do not enter into any fixed supply agreements with our suppliers and our major requirement is met in the domestic market. The overall cost of raw materials consumed during the financial year ended March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024 and March 31, 2023 are Rs. 4,048.21 Lakhs, Rs. 4,006.75 Lakhs and Rs. 4,191.09 Lakhs respectively.

Our cost of raw materials consumed as percentage of Revenue from Operations as on March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024 and March 31, 2023 were 83.26%, 91.26% and 91.32% respectively. We have faced significant fluctuations in raw material prices. We may at times also face the risks associated with compensating for or passing on such increase in our cost of production on account of such fluctuations in prices to our customers. Upward fluctuations in the prices of goods purchased may thereby affect our profit margins and affect our financial performance.

(Amount in Rs Lakhs except percentages)

Particulars	March 31,2025	March 31,2024	March 31,2023
Revenue from Operations	4,861.96	4,390.54	4,589.63
Cost of Production	3,938.89	4,061.38	4,356.31
Cost of Raw Material Consumed	3,798.21	4,006.75	4,191.09
% of Revenue from Operations	81.01%	92.50%	94.92%

The price and availability of raw materials are influenced by factors beyond our control, such as overall economic conditions, supply levels, market demand, competition, transportation costs, duties and taxes, and trade restrictions. We engage in annual planning discussions with our suppliers, and procurement is carried out on a rolling monthly basis. Historically, we have passed on increases in raw material and other input costs to our customers. However, our cash flows may still be negatively impacted by timing gaps between when we procure raw materials and when we adjust customer pricing to reflect the increased costs.

4. Our Business is labour intensive, and our business operations may be materially adversely affected by strikes, work stoppages or increased wage demands by our employees or those of our suppliers

Our Company's manufacturing and packaging operations depend on labour across various functions including processing, finishing, packing, and handling. All our workforce consists of permanent workers. Any disruption in labour availability such as strikes, work stoppages, absenteeism, or agitation which could impact our production output and delivery schedules. There may be future upward revisions in minimum wage requirements, or increased wage demands by workers or support staff, which could lead to higher operational costs. Such risks also extend to our suppliers or ancillary service providers, whose workforce issues may indirectly affect our supply chain or delivery commitments.

We have not faced this kind of incident till date as we engage with our labour force and workers through structured communication and grievance redressal mechanisms.

5. Trade Receivables forms a significant part of our current assets. Failure to manage our trade receivables could have an adverse effect on our sales, profitability, cash flow and liquidity.

Trade receivables constitute a significant portion of our current assets, making their effective management crucial to our operational efficiency and financial stability. Any delay or default in collection may adversely impact our cash flow, liquidity, and profitability. For the financial year ended March 31, 2023, March 31, 2024 and March 31, 2025 our trade receivables were ₹ 246.96 lakhs, ₹ 359.37 lakhs and ₹ 294.79 lakhs respectively. The changes in trade receivables over the years suggests that we have been extending credits to debtors and our collection of receivables is in good control of the company, to drive better debtors turnover and maintain competitive positioning. Failure to manage this effectively may impact our ability to meet our working capital needs and continue smooth operations which in turn could affect our financial performance.

6. Our business operates in a highly competitive environment with the presence of numerous unorganized players, which may exert pricing pressure.

Our business operates in a highly competitive industry characterized by the presence of a large number of unorganized and small-scale players, particularly in the low-cost segment of raw materials for paper cups and paper plates. While our focus remains on delivering superior quality raw materials that meet stringent performance and sustainability standards, many unorganized competitors operate with minimal regulatory compliance, lower input costs, and informal labour practices. This allows them to offer significantly cheaper alternatives, often at the expense of quality. Such pricing disparities can exert pressure on our margins and challenge our ability to maintain market share, especially in price-sensitive markets. Buyers with less focus on quality or sustainability may opt for lower-priced substitutes, affecting demand for our premium-grade products.

7. Our Company operations require significant amount of working capital for a continuing growth. Our inability to meet our working capital requirements may adversely affect our results of operations.

Our Company's business operations require a significant amount of working capital, primarily to finance our inventory, including the purchase of raw materials. In the event, we are unable to source the required amount of working capital, we might not be able to efficiently satisfy the demand of our clients in a timely manner or at all. Even if we are able to source the required amount of funds, it would be difficult for us to assure that such funds may or may not be sufficient to meet our cost estimates, which could have adverse effect on our financial conditions and results of operations. There exist substantial requirement of working capital and financing in the form of fund and non-fund based working capital facilities to meet our requirements. The details of our working capital for period ended March 31, 2023, March 31, 2024 and March 31, 2025 are Rs. 1,747.15 lakhs, Rs. 2,256.22 and Rs. 2,618.35 respectively, which is showing continuous increase.

Ensuring a robust cash flow management system is vital, which involves closely monitoring and forecasting cash inflows and outflows to maintain liquidity. Additionally, strategic cost control measures and expense management helps in preserving cash reserves. Exploring alternative financing options, such as equity financing or strategic partnerships, provides additional capital without significantly increasing debt. Regular financial performance reviews and adjusting operational strategies based on cash flow projections ensure the company remains agile and responsive to changing capital needs. By employing these strategies, the company can better manage its working capital requirements, thereby supporting ongoing growth and minimizing potential adverse effects on its operations.

9. Our contingent liabilities as stated in our Restated Financial Statements could adversely affect our financial condition.

Below are the contingent liabilities, as for the financial years ended March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024 and March 31, 2023 as disclosed in our Restated Financial Statements in accordance with applicable accounting standards:

Rs. In Lakhs

In the event any such contingencies mentioned above were to materialize or if our contingent liabilities were to increase in the future, our financial condition could be adversely affected. For further details, please refer to chapter titled “Financial Information – Restated Financial Statements – Annexure XIII – Contingent liabilities and commitments” on page 302 of the Draft Red Herring Prospectus. However, our company has been regular in the past payments and there has been no incident of any devolvement or invoke of the Bank Guarantee to the respective authorities.

10. The Objects of the Offer for which funds are being raised have not been appraised by any bank or financial institution.

The deployment of Net Proceeds from the Offer is entirely based on internal management estimates, as detailed in the section titled “Objects of the Offer” beginning on page 120 of this Draft Red Herring Prospectus. These estimates have not been appraised by any bank or financial institution. Any variation in cost assumptions may require us to reschedule expenditure and could impact our projected revenues and earnings.

Subject to compliance with Section 27 of the Companies Act, 2013, any change in the Objects of the Offer shall require approval of shareholders through a special resolution. Dissenting shareholders shall be provided an exit opportunity in accordance with SEBI regulations. In case of cost overruns or funding shortfalls, we may utilize internal accruals or raise additional funds through equity or debt. Surplus funds, if any, will be used for future growth opportunities or other existing objects as deemed appropriate by the management.

11. A considerable share of our sales is generated through short-term orders, resulting in limited visibility into future demand and potential fluctuations in order volumes.

The reliance on short-term contracts and unpredictable order cycles leads to significant challenges in forecasting demand and planning production. As the industry is often driven by seasonal fluctuations, urgent procurement needs, or changes in customer requirements, the absence of long-term purchase agreements leaves our operations vulnerable to sudden shifts in demand. These fluctuations can result in overproduction, leading to excess inventory and tied-up working capital, or underproduction, causing delays in meeting client requirements. Moreover, such volatility can complicate the effective allocation of resources, increase operational costs, and hinder the company’s ability to maintain consistent cash flow.

12. Our Promoters, Directors, Key Managerial Personnel and members of Senior Management are interested in our Company other than reimbursement of expenses or normal remuneration or benefits which may result in a conflict of interest with us.

Our Promoters, some of our Directors, Key Managerial Personnel and Senior Management may be regarded as having an interest in us other than reimbursement of expenses incurred and normal remuneration or benefits. Here is the table showing compensation paid to Directors during FY 2024-25

Compensation paid to Executive Directors during the financial year ended 2024 – 2025:

Sl. No.	Name of Director	Designation	Remuneration (INR in Lakhs)
1.	Mrs. Meena Agarwal	Executive Director	19.50
2.	Mr. Manoj Kumar Agrawal	Whole Time Director	22.00
3.	Mr. Akash Agrawal	Managing Director	2.00

Our Promoters, Directors, and certain Key Managerial Personnel and members of Senior Management may be deemed to be interested to the extent of Equity Shares held by them as well. Details of Shares held by Promoters are as below:

Name of promoters	As on 31 st March, 2025
	Number	% Held
Meena Agarwal	73,43,000	51.35
Manoj Kumar Agrawal	45,57,000	31.87
Akash Agrawal	5,00,000	3.50

We cannot assure you that our Promoters, Directors, Key Managerial Personnel and members of Senior Management will exercise their rights for the benefit, or in the best interests of our Company. There may be a risk of Pledging shares by promoters as collateral, and if the promoter defaults, lenders may sell the shares, causing a sharp price fall or promoters may cause higher volatility by offloading their holdings for their personal gain.

For further details, see “Our Management” and “Capital Structure” on pages 225 and 97 of the Draft Red Herring Prospectus.

13. Our business requires us to obtain and renew certain licenses and permits from government, regulatory authorities and the failure to obtain or renew them in a timely manner may adversely affect our business operations.

We are committed to ensuring the smooth operation of our business by diligently obtaining and renewing all necessary approvals, licenses, registrations, and permits from relevant regulatory authorities, including the Government of India, State Governments, and other pertinent agencies for operating our business. While we strive to secure these permits and approvals promptly, we acknowledge that the issuance process may vary from state to state in India, which may pose challenges in obtaining the required approvals, licenses, registrations and permits.

We have taken comprehensive steps to enhance fire safety measures across our facilities, ensuring a safe environment for our operations. Further, we have implemented a comprehensive compliance management system that prioritizes the timely tracking and renewal of all necessary licenses and permits. This system includes dedicated personnel responsible for monitoring regulatory changes, deadlines, and application processes, ensuring that we remain compliant with all requirements. We have also deployed dedicated compliance management personnel, who diligently review the requirements with respect to compliance and take prompt actions, as may be required to resolve the issues, which may arise. We remain dedicated to maintaining the highest standards of compliance and safety in all aspects of our business operations.

Additionally, following the change in our company's constitution from a Private Company to a Public Company, we are in the process of updating the names on all our permits, licenses, and approvals to reflect this change.

Though, we believe, that we have obtained required permits and licenses which are adequate to run our business, we cannot assure that there are no other statutory/regulatory requirements which we would be required to comply with. Further, some of these approvals are granted for fixed period and need renewal from time to time. We are required to renew such permits, licenses and approvals. While we typically apply for the renewal of any existing regulatory approvals prior to their expiry dates, failure to renew, maintain or obtain the required permits or approvals in time may result in the interruption of our operations and may also have material adverse effect on our business. For details regarding pending approvals, please refer to section titled “Government and Other Approvals” beginning on page 337 of the Draft Red Herring Prospectus.

14. Our business is subject to seasonal fluctuations in demand, which can result in periods of low sales and underutilization of production capacity.

The demand for paper-based products, is highly seasonal, with peaks during specific periods such as festive seasons, holidays, and major events, when consumption of single-use paper products typically surges. Conversely, during off-peak periods, especially after major events or during less busy months, demand can dip significantly, leading to reduced order volumes. This seasonal variability can result in underutilization of production capacity during low-demand periods, causing inefficiencies in the manufacturing process. Fixed operational costs such as labour, overhead, and maintenance continue to accrue despite lower output, which can negatively impact profitability. The fluctuating demand makes it challenging to maintain a balanced inventory level, as excess stock may accumulate during slower periods, tying up working capital, while insufficient stock during peak demand can result in missed sales opportunities and delays in meeting customer expectations. These fluctuations also create uncertainty in cash flow, as revenue generation becomes uneven across the year, making it difficult to maintain financial stability or plan for long-term investments.

Quarter-wise Revenue (Amt. in Rs. Lakhs)
Particulars	Fiscal 2025	Fiscal 2024	Fiscal 2023
Quarter 1	1122.77	1008.69	1055.52
Quarter 2	1240.48	1080.14	1311.74
Quarter 3	1244.48	1111.57	1065.71
Quarter 4	1254.22	1190.13	1156.64
TOTAL	4861.95	4390.53	4589.61

15. Our ability to pay dividends in the future will depend on our earnings, financial condition, working capital requirements, capital expenditures and restrictive covenants of our financing arrangements.

We have not declared dividend in the past. For further information, see “Dividend Policy” on page 263 of this Draft Red Herring Prospectus. Our future capacity to distribute dividends will be influenced by factors such as our earnings, financial health, cash flow, working capital needs, capital expenditures, and the terms of our financing agreements. The Board of Directors will recommend dividend declarations, which will then be subject to shareholder approval, in accordance with our Articles of Association and applicable laws, including the Companies Act. We may choose to reinvest future earnings to support business operations and expansion, which could result in the decision not to declare dividends in the near term. Any future decisions regarding dividend declarations will be made at the discretion of our Board, following our dividend distribution policy and considering factors such as profitability, capital requirements, financial commitments, business expansion plans, legal restrictions, and other financing arrangements. While we cannot guarantee future dividend payments, we are committed to making decisions that support the long-term growth and success of our company.

16. Significant portion of our revenue has been generated from Eastern part of India, any loss of business from these states may adversely affect our revenues and profitability.

A substantial portion of our sales and client base is concentrated in the Eastern region of India. This dependence on a specific geographic market exposes us to several potential vulnerabilities. Any adverse developments in this region such as changes in regional regulations, environmental policies, shifts in demand, natural disasters, political instability, or increased competition could severely disrupt our operations, distribution networks, and customer relationships. If large clients or distributors in the Eastern region decide to scale down or cease operations, or if new entrants capture significant market share, it could lead to a sharp decline in our revenue. Since our infrastructure, supply chain alignment, and sales strategies are optimized for this region, expanding or pivoting to other parts of the country would require considerable time, investment, and operational realignment. This regional dependence not only limits our growth potential but also makes our overall business performance highly sensitive to localized disruptions.

- 17. We have incurred significant capital expenditure during the last three Fiscals and we may require substantial financing for our business operations and planned capital expenditure and failure to obtain additional financing may have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations, financial condition and cash flows.

We have incurred significant capital expenditure during the last three Fiscals. We have historically funded our capital expenditures and liquidity requirements through primarily using cash generated by our operating activities as well as debt financing, including bank loans. The following tables sets forth our historic capital expenditure for the years indicated:

Financial Years	Capex Rs. in lakhs	Total Expenses Rs. in lakhs	Capex as a % of Total Expenses
FY 2022-23	290.53	4,325.50	6.72
FY 2023-24	50.69	3,974.90	1.28
FY 2024-25	32.84	4,149.06	0.79

In the future, we may require substantial capital for our business operations and planned capital expenditures to manufacture molds in our new and existing manufacturing facilities. Our ability to obtain additional financing on favorable terms, if at all, will depend on a number of factors, including our future financial condition, results of operations and cash flows, the amount and terms of our existing indebtedness, general market conditions and market conditions for financing activities and the economic, political and other conditions in the markets where we operate. We cannot assure you that we will be able to raise additional financing on acceptable terms in a timely manner. Our failure to renew arrangements for existing funding or to obtain additional financing on acceptable terms and in a timely manner could adversely impact our planned capital expenditure, our business, results of operations and financial conditions.

18. Our Promoter and Executive Directors hold Equity Shares in our Company and are therefore interested in the Company's performance in addition to their remuneration and reimbursement of expenses.

Our Promoter and Directors are interested in our Company, in addition to regular remuneration or benefits and reimbursement of expenses, to the extent of their shareholding in our Company. Our Promoters hold a significant shareholding in the Company, which enables them to exercise substantial influence over its operations and strategic decisions. This level of involvement can lead to potential conflicts of interest between the Promoters and minority shareholders. While the Promoters' interests are generally aligned with the Company's success, there may be instances where their actions or decisions do not fully coincide with the best interests of all shareholders.

19. We have not made any alternate arrangements for meeting our regular working capital requirements. If we are unable to manage/arrange funds (including at short notice) to meet our working capital requirements, there may be an adverse effect on our results of operations and financial performance.

As of the date of this Draft Red Herring Prospectus, we have not established any alternative arrangements to meet our working capital requirements apart from our existing sanctioned credit limits. Our business operations require substantial working capital, primarily to finance the procurement of raw materials in advance of receiving payments from customers.

We cannot assure that our budgeting and planning for working capital requirements will always be accurate or sufficient. Any shortfall or delay in arranging additional working capital may hinder the timely execution of ongoing projects, which could result in delays, loss of customer confidence, reputational damage, imposition of liquidated damages, and adverse impacts on our cash flows.

In the event of insufficient internal cash generation or an inability to secure external funding in a timely manner—or on commercially favorable terms—we may face significant constraints in executing larger-scale or time-sensitive projects. Furthermore, our borrowings are subject to fluctuations in interest rates, and any adverse movement in rates may increase our financing costs. Collectively, these factors could materially and adversely affect our business operations, growth and expansion plans, and future financial performance

20. We have issued Equity Shares during the last one year from the date of this Draft Red Herring Prospectus at a price which may not be indicative of the Offer Price

During preceding one year from the date of this Draft Red Herring Prospectus, we have issued the following Equity Shares of our Company:

Date of allotment	Number of Equity Shares	Face value per share	Value equity	Issue price per Equity Share	Nature of Consideration	Nature of allotment
December 02, 2024	46,50,000	10/-		NA	Other than Cash	Bonus Issue
December 02, 2024	24,00,000	10/-		10/-	Cash	Right Issue
December 16, 2024	26,00,000	10/-		10/-	Cash	Right Issue

For further details regarding the average cost of acquisition of Equity Shares by our Promoters in our Company and build-up of Equity Shares of our Promoters in our Company, please see Chapter titled “Capital Structure” beginning on page 97 of this Draft Red Herring Prospectus.

21. We have taken guarantees from Promoters in relation to debt facilities provided to us.

We have taken guarantees from Promoters in relation to our secured debt facilities availed from our Bankers. In an event any of these persons withdraw or terminate its/their guarantees, the lender for such facilities may ask for alternate guarantees, repayment of amounts outstanding under such facilities, or even terminate such facilities. In the event of challenges in obtaining satisfactory guarantees, we are prepared to explore alternative solutions, including the possibility of repaying outstanding amounts under existing facilities or seeking additional sources of capital. This proactive approach positions us to address potential financial hurdles effectively, contributing to the resilience of our financial condition. For more information, please see the chapter titled “Financial Indebtedness” beginning on page 331 of this Draft Red Herring Prospectus.

To effectively manage the risks associated with relying on guarantees from promoters for debt facilities, we ensure that these guarantees are documented with clear terms and conditions, outlining the scope and extent of the commitments made by the promoters. Regularly reviewing and assessing the financial health and creditworthiness of the promoters helps to gauge their ability to honor these guarantees should the need arise.

22. Our business depends on our Promoters and Key Managerial Personnel. Any change in our Promoter and Key Managerial Personnel may affect our business growth

Our operations and long-term direction are closely guided by the leadership of our Promoters, Key Managerial Personnel, including Mr. Manoj Kumar Agrawal, our Chief Financial Officer, Whole time Director, Mr. Akash Agrawal, our Managing Director and Chairman and Mrs. Meena Agarwal, Executive Director. Their involvement in strategic planning, financial oversight, and business management has been instrumental in our success. A significant portion of leadership responsibility is currently held by a small group of senior individuals. In the event of an unexpected absence due to health or personal reasons, our ability to make quick decisions or manage day-to-day operations could face temporary challenges. This concentration of leadership roles may also affect our ability to adapt swiftly to changes in market conditions. Additionally, potential conflicts of interest, particularly in procurement or financial decisions, may influence governance and decision-making.

23. We have in the past entered into related party transactions and may continue to do so in the future.

For Financial Years ended March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024 and March 31, 2023, we have entered into several related party transactions with our Promoters, Directors, individuals and entities forming a part of our promoter group relating to our operations. However, the related party transactions entered into with Promoters/ Directors/ Promoter Group are in compliance with Section 188 of Companies Act, 2013 and other applicable rules, as may be applicable. 25. Reliance on third-party logistics services may lead to operational disruptions due to factors beyond our control, potentially affecting the timely delivery of products and overall supply chain efficiency.

In the course of our operations within the manufacturing and supply of superior quality raw materials for paper cups and paper plates, we rely significantly on third-party transportation and logistics providers for the movement of goods across various regions. While this approach allows us to focus on our core manufacturing activities and reduces the need for in-house fleet management, it also exposes us to certain risks that are largely outside our direct control. Delays caused by logistical inefficiencies, labour strikes, regulatory restrictions, fuel price volatility, or adverse weather conditions can disrupt our supply chain and impact our ability to deliver materials to customers on time. Such disruptions may not only affect customer satisfaction and business relationships but could also lead to increased operational costs and loss of potential revenue.

26. Incidents such as fraud, theft, or employee negligence could impact our operational efficiency and have an adverse effect on our financial performance.

We are exposed to operational risks related to internal misconduct such as fraud, theft, or employee negligence. These incidents, whether involving misappropriation of assets, manipulation of records, or non-compliance with internal controls and safety protocols, can result in financial losses, legal liabilities, reputational damage, and disruptions to our business operations. Given the scale of our inventory, reliance on manual handling at certain stages, and involvement of various employees and third parties across the supply chain, the potential for such incidents cannot be entirely eliminated. While we have internal policies and controls in place to prevent and detect such occurrences, any failure in their implementation or enforcement may adversely impact our financial condition, employee morale, and overall operational stability.

27. Our company is reliant on leased premises for core operations, which may impact stability and long-term planning.

Our company's reliance on leased premise for conducting core operations presents a significant business risk, as it limits our control over a critical aspect of our infrastructure. Leased property is subject to factors beyond our direct influence, such as lease terminations, rent escalations, changes in property ownership, or unfavorable lease renewal terms. These uncertainties can disrupt business continuity, hinder expansion plans, and create additional financial burdens. Moreover, the inability to make structural or strategic modifications to the property without landlord approval may constrain operational flexibility and long-term planning. This dependency underscores the importance of regularly evaluating our lease agreements and exploring long-term real estate strategies.

Our company is in long term lease from Odisha Industrial Infrastructure Development Corporation (OIIDC) under the Government of Odisha (GoO) for 55 years. Our company maintains lease agreements with renewal options to ensure continuity of operations. It diversifies its locations where feasible to avoid overdependence on a single property and includes protective clauses in lease contracts to limit sudden termination or excessive lease increases. The company also monitors market conditions and maintains strong relationships with property owners to facilitate negotiations. In parallel, contingency plans including the identification of alternative locations and flexible operational models are developed to ensure business continuity in the event of lease disruptions.

For further details, kindly refer to chapter titled “Our Business” beginning on Page 184 of Draft Red Herring Prospectus.

28. We have power requirements and any disruption to power sources could increase our production costs and adversely affect our business and results of operations.

Our business operations depend heavily on consistent and reliable access to power to support production activities. Any disruption in the availability or supply of this essential utilities whether due to infrastructural failures, regulatory changes, price volatility, or natural calamities can significantly impact our operational efficiency. Interruptions in power supply may lead to production delays, increased costs from the use of alternative or backup sources, and reduced output capacity. These disruptions not only elevate our cost of production but also risk delaying delivery timelines, potentially affecting customer satisfaction and overall business performance.

Particulars	Fiscal 2025		Fiscal 2024		Fiscal 2023
	Amount (Rs. In Lakhs)	% of total Direct expenses	Amount (Rs. In Lakhs)	% of total Direct expenses	Amount (Rs. In Lakhs)	% of total Direct expenses
Power Charges	60.57	43.80	67.39	52.00	63.64	58.82
Total Direct Expenses	138.30	100	129.60	100	108.18	100

29. Significant failure or disruption of our information technology systems could adversely impact our business, results of operations and financial condition

We rely on various information technology systems to support business functions and maintain coordination across departments. These systems assist in managing financial processes, monitoring manufacturing, handling customer-related activities, and processing payroll.

Any failure, disruption, or security breach affecting these IT systems due to cyberattacks, hardware or software malfunctions, data corruption, or unauthorized access has impacted or could impact business operations. Such events may cause delays in production monitoring, inaccuracies in financial reporting, disruptions in customer billing and collections, and interruptions in payroll processing.

30. Our insurance coverage may not adequately protect us against all material hazards, which may adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

We maintain insurance policies to mitigate certain operational risks; however, such coverage may not be adequate to cover all potential losses. These policies are subject to exclusions, limitations, deductibles, and conditions, and may not fully protect against events such as natural disasters, cyber incidents, or supply chain disruptions. Claims exceeding coverage limits or falling outside the scope of our policies could expose us to significant financial liabilities, impacting our operations and financial condition.

Additionally, failure to renew insurance policies on time or obtain adequate coverage may result in uninsured losses. While we regularly review and update our insurance programs in consultation with reputed insurers and conduct periodic risk assessments to implement preventive measures, limitations in the insurance market and evolving risks may continue to pose challenges to comprehensive risk mitigation.

31. Extensive government regulation and the impact of plastics on the environment could have a severe impact on our ability to continue our business operations, which could adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial conditions.

Extensive government regulation and increasing environmental concerns related to the use of plastics and plastic-coated paper products could significantly affect our ability to continue business operations. As regulatory authorities impose stricter rules aimed at reducing plastic consumption and promoting sustainable packaging solutions, we may face increased compliance costs, operational restrictions, and the need for substantial modifications to our manufacturing processes.

Such regulatory changes could limit the production or sale of certain products, thereby affecting our product portfolio and market competitiveness. Failure to adapt promptly and effectively to these evolving regulations could adversely affect our business, results of operations, and financial condition.

32. Adverse publicity or negative perceptions related to our products may affect our brand reputation and could potentially impact customer trust and business performance.

Adverse publicity regarding any of our products or similar products marketed or sold by others could negatively affect us. If any studies raise or substantiate concerns regarding the efficacy or safety of our products or other concerns, our reputation could be harmed and demand for our products could diminish, which could have a material adverse effect on growth in new customers and sales of our product, leading to a decline in revenues, cash collections, and ultimately our ability to meet operating cash flow requirements.

We have established a proactive public relations strategy that focuses on clear and transparent communication with the public, customers, and stakeholders which includes promptly addressing any negative feedback or concerns through effective crisis management procedures and engaging with customers directly to resolve issues. We have built strong relationships with the media and maintain a positive brand image through consistent, high-quality products and customer service, we have effectively protected our reputation and reduce the impact of any adverse publicity.

33. We are subject to strict quality requirements, and our customers expect our products to consistently meet defined specifications. Any failure to comply with these quality standards may result in cancellation of existing or future orders, which could adversely affect our reputation, financial condition, cash flows, and results of operations.

Given the nature of our products and the sector in which we operate, our customers maintain high expectations for product quality and adherence to delivery timelines. Any failure to meet defined quality standards or technical specifications, including issues related to raw material composition or manufacturing defects, may result in the cancellation of existing or future orders.

Similarly, delays in delivering products in the required quantity or within agreed timelines may also lead to order cancellations, product liability claims, or damage to our reputation and goodwill. In such cases, customers may seek price reductions, withhold payments, require indemnification, or shift to alternative suppliers. These developments could have an adverse impact on our business, cash flows, results of operations, and financial condition.

34. A significant portion of our revenue relies on the paper products and any disruptions in this industry could negatively impact our reputation, financial performance, and overall business operations.

A significant portion of our revenue is derived from the manufacturing of paper products segments. Consequently, our performance is closely tied to the stability and growth of this sector. Any adverse developments such as shifts in consumer preferences, economic slowdowns, increased competition, regulatory changes, or market saturation could materially impact our revenue and profitability.

Disruptions in supply chains, including raw material shortages or production delays, may hinder our ability to fulfill customer orders on time, resulting in increased costs, reduced customer satisfaction, and reputational harm. Any sustained disruption in these key segments may adversely affect our market position, limit growth opportunities, and constrain our ability to invest in future innovation and expansion.

Revenue from Various Business Segment (Amt. in Rs. Lakhs)

35. Our business operations are reliant on machinery, making us susceptible to risks associated with equipment failure, maintenance issues, and technological obsolescence, which could disrupt production and impact profitability.

Our business operations rely extensively on the use of machinery and equipment across various stages of production and service delivery. This machinery forms an integral part of our operational infrastructure and plays an important role in maintaining process efficiency, consistency, and scalability. The integration of mechanical systems into our daily operations allows us to achieve desired output levels while adhering to predefined quality standards. We continuously monitor the condition and performance of machinery to align with evolving industry practices and operational requirements. Additionally, we remain attentive to advancements in industrial technology to identify potential improvements that may benefit our systems and contribute to operational continuity. By placing emphasis on planned maintenance, resource allocation for technological upgrades, and workforce training in equipment handling, we aim to ensure that our machinery operates efficiently and supports the long-term goals of the business. We have not faced any machine stoppage and due to which we have to face a huge loss in the past.

36. We maintain a large inventory in our warehouse, which requires effective inventory management, storage practices, and regular monitoring to ensure optimal utilization and smooth operations.

As we are engaged in the manufacturing of paper products and paper-based packaging, we maintain a substantial inventory of raw materials, work-in-progress, and finished goods across our warehousing facilities. The nature of our operations requires us to ensure that adequate stocks of key inputs such as paper, paper reels, adhesives, and packaging components are readily available to meet production schedules and customer delivery timelines. Managing this inventory involves multiple layers of operational planning, including forecasting demand, managing procurement cycles, and coordinating closely with the production and logistics teams. Paper-based materials are sensitive to environmental factors such as humidity and temperature, which necessitates the implementation of proper storage practices to maintain product integrity and avoid deterioration. In addition, efficient space utilization, inventory rotation (especially for perishable or time-sensitive stock), and monitoring of stock ageing are critical to maintaining quality and minimizing waste. While inventory plays an important role in ensuring continuity of operations and meeting customer expectations, it also requires dedicated infrastructure, oversight, and planning to manage associated costs and risks.

37. Our existing manufacturing facilities are concentrated in a single region, i.e., Odisha. Any slowdown or disruption in our manufacturing operations in our manufacturing facilities could have a material and adverse impact on our business and operations.

Our manufacturing unit is located at Khurda, Odisha, which exposes us to risks of concentration. Our success depends on our ability to successfully manufacture and deliver our products to meet our customer demand. Although in the past we have not experienced instances of operating risks, however our manufacturing facility is susceptible to damage or interruption or operating risks, such as human error, power loss, breakdown or failure of equipment, power supply or processes, performance below expected levels of output or efficiency, obsolescence, loss of services of our external contractors, terrorist attacks, acts of war, break-ins, earthquakes, other natural disasters and industrial accidents and similar events. It is also subject to operating risk arising from compliance with the directives of relevant government authorities. Operating risks may result in personal injury and property damage and in the imposition of civil and criminal penalties. If our Company experiences delays in production or shutdowns at our facility due to any reason, including disruptions caused by disputes with its workforce or any external factors, our Company's operations will be significantly affected, which in turn would have a material adverse effect on its business, financial condition and results of operations. We have not faced any kind of situation like this in the past.

38. Our estimates and forward-looking statements may prove to be inaccurate, which could adversely affect investors' perception and decision-making.

This Draft Red Herring Prospectus contains certain forward-looking statements, including but not limited to, statements regarding our future business strategies, growth prospects, financial performance, industry developments, market conditions, and other projections. These statements are based on current expectations, assumptions, and estimates, which involve inherent risks and uncertainties. Factors such as changes in market dynamics, regulatory developments, competitive pressures, operational challenges, or unforeseen external events may cause actual results to differ materially from those anticipated. There can be no assurance that the outcomes predicted by these forward-looking statements will be realized. Any significant deviation from our projections could impact our business performance and may adversely affect investor confidence and perception of our Company. Consequently, reliance on such statements for investment decision-making may involve a high degree of uncertainty. Investors are advised to carefully consider this risk when evaluating our Company and its prospects.

39. Investors will not be able to sell immediately on an Indian stock exchange any of the Equity Shares they purchase in the Issue.

The Equity Shares will be listed on the Stock Exchange. Pursuant to applicable Indian laws, certain actions must be completed before the Equity Shares can be listed and trading in the Equity Shares may commence. Investors' book entry, or 'demat' accounts with depository participants in India, are expected to be credited within One Working Day of the date on which the Basis of Allotment is approved by the Stock Exchange. 40. Our business requires us to obtain certain approvals, licenses, registrations and permits to operate our business, and failure to obtain or renew them in a timely manner or maintain the statutory and regulatory permits and approvals required to operate our business may adversely affect our operations and financial conditions.

Our business operations require us to obtain and renew, from time to time, certain approvals, licenses, registrations and permits under central, state and local government rules in India, generally for carrying out our business and for our manufacturing facilities. Some of these approvals are granted for a limited duration. While we are required to obtain a number of approvals for legally conducting our business operations and we shall submit the applications for renewal of such approvals, as and when required, during the course of our business operations. We have submitted certain applications to various regulatory authorities seeking approvals and licenses. For details, please refer "Government and Other Approvals" on page 337 of this Draft Red Herring Prospectus. There can be no assurance that the relevant authorities will issue such permits or approvals to us or that they will be issued on time. Further, these permits, licenses and approvals are subject to several conditions and we cannot assure you that we will be able to continuously meet the conditions, which may lead to cancellation, revocation or suspension of relevant permits/licenses/approvals.

41. If we are unable to source business opportunities effectively, we may not achieve our financial objectives.

The continued growth and success of our business are dependent on our ability to identify, pursue, and convert new business opportunities in a timely and efficient manner. Any failure to do so whether due to increased competition, limited market visibility, evolving customer requirements, or inefficiencies in our business development efforts could restrict our revenue generation and hamper the optimal utilization of our resources. An inadequate pipeline of new projects or clients may limit our ability to scale operations, achieve projected financial targets, and maintain our competitive positioning in the market. Such limitations could have a material adverse effect on our business operations, future prospects, and overall financial performance.

42. The property used by the Company for the purpose of its operations is not owned by us. Any termination of the relevant lease agreement in connection with such property or our failure to renew the same could adversely affect our operations.

Our registered office, factory or warehouse is situated on a property that is under long-term lease agreements, with lease terms extending up to 55 years. This property is critical to the operation and continuity of our business. Our factory or registered office, located in Khurda, Odisha, are built on land obtained through a long-term lease from the Odisha Industrial Infrastructure Development Corporation (OIIDC). Given the significant role this leased property play in our day-to-day operations, any potential termination of the lease or our inability to renew them, missed deadlines, or any other reason could severely disrupt our business activities, leading to operational setbacks and a potential financial impact. Ensuring the security and continuity of these lease is crucial for maintaining the stability and growth of our operations. If we are required to vacate the current premises, we would be required to make alternative arrangements for our business activities and we cannot assure that the new arrangements will be on commercially acceptable/favourable terms. If we are required to relocate our business operations during this period, we may suffer a disruption in our operations or have to pay higher charges, which could have an adverse effect on our business, prospects, results of operations and financial condition.

For details regarding properties taken on lease refer the Section titled - Properties – “Our Business” beginning on page 204 of this Draft Red Herring Prospectus.

43. Adverse publicity or negative perceptions related to our products may affect our brand reputation and could potentially impact customer trust and business performance.

Adverse publicity regarding any of our products or similar products marketed or sold by others could negatively affect us. If any studies raise or substantiate concerns regarding the efficacy or safety of our products or other concerns, our reputation could be harmed and demand for our products could diminish, which could have a material adverse effect on growth in new customers and sales of our product, leading to a decline in revenues, cash collections, and ultimately our ability to meet operating cash flow requirements. We can establish a proactive public relations strategy that focuses on clear and transparent communication with the public, customers, and stakeholders. This includes promptly addressing any negative feedback or concerns through effective crisis management procedures and engaging with customers directly to resolve issues. Additionally, ensuring strict quality control processes and continuous product improvement will help minimize the likelihood of product-related problems, reducing the chances of negative publicity. By building strong relationships with the media and maintaining a positive brand image through consistent, high-quality products and customer service, we can effectively protect our reputation and reduce the impact of any adverse publicity.

44. Any future issuance of Equity Shares, or convertible securities or other equity linked instruments by us may dilute the shareholding of the Investor, or any sale of Equity Shares by our Promoters or other significant shareholder(s) may adversely affect the trading price of the Equity Shares.

Any future issuance of Equity Shares by our Company could dilute the shareholding of the investor. Any such future issuance of our Equity Shares or sales of our Equity Shares by any of our significant shareholders may adversely affect the trading price of our Equity Shares and could impact our ability to raise capital through an offering of our securities. While the entire Post-Issue paid-up share capital, held by our Promoter or other shareholders will be locked-in for a period of 1 (one) year and minimum promoter contribution subject to a minimum of 20% of our post-Issue paid-up capital will be locked-in for a period of 3 (three) years from the date of allotment of Equity Shares in the Issue, upon listing of our Equity Shares on the Stock Exchanges. For further information relating to such Equity Shares that will be locked-in, please refer to the section titled “Capital Structure” beginning on page 97 of this Red Herring Prospectus. Any future issuance or sale of the equity shares of our Company by our Promoters or by other significant shareholder(s) or any perception or belief that such sales of Equity Shares might occur may significantly affect the trading price of our Equity Shares.

45. The highly competitive nature of our industry, with numerous large unorganized players operating in the sector, exposes us to the risk of pricing pressure, market share erosion, and reduced profitability.

The unorganized competitors often have the ability to operate with lower costs due to reduced regulatory oversight and less stringent operational practices which may offer products or services at lower prices, creating significant pricing pressure on our business. This could force us to lower our prices to remain competitive, which in turn may erode our profit margins and reduce overall profitability. The unorganized sector may also exploit gaps in regulation, leading to inconsistent quality and customer service standards, which can make it difficult to differentiate our offerings. This could result in our losing market share to these players, especially in price-sensitive segments. The overall impact of this intense competition could hinder our ability to grow, expand our customer base, and maintain sustainable profit margins, making it challenging to thrive in such a volatile market environment.

We can focus on differentiating our business through value-added services, superior product quality, and strong brand positioning. By investing in quality control, innovation, and operational efficiency, we can maintain a competitive edge while justifying a premium price point for our products or services. Strengthening customer relationships through excellent customer service and loyalty programs can help build a loyal customer base, making it harder for unorganized players to capture market share. We can also explore strategic partnerships, collaborations, or even vertical integration to improve our supply chain and reduce costs, allowing us to remain competitive without sacrificing profitability. Lastly, closely monitoring market trends and competitor strategies will enable us to adapt quickly to changes and proactively address emerging threats in the market.

46. Staying aligned with technological advancements and evolving industry trends is essential for sustaining our competitiveness and meeting the changing needs of our customers.

Our ability to maintain a competitive edge and sustain long-term growth is closely tied to our capacity to adapt to rapid technological advancements and evolving industry standards. The raw material manufacturing sector, especially in the context of eco-friendly and sustainable packaging solutions such as paper cups and plates, is undergoing continuous transformation driven by innovations in production techniques, environmental compliance, material science, and automation. If we fail to keep pace with these technological shifts whether by not upgrading our machinery, not adopting more efficient or sustainable production processes, or not aligning with emerging customer and regulatory expectations we risk losing relevance in the market. Inability to innovate or modernize could lead to higher production costs, reduced product quality, lower customer satisfaction, and ultimately a loss of market share to more agile competitors.

To ensure we remain competitive and responsive to technological and industry changes, we continuously invest in upgrading our manufacturing infrastructure, adopting modern production techniques, and enhancing product quality. We actively monitor industry trends, engage with suppliers and customers for feedback, and participate in industry forums to stay ahead of emerging innovations and regulatory requirements. Our team regularly undergoes training to stay updated with new technologies and sustainable practices, enabling us to adapt quickly and effectively to market shifts.

- 47. *There is no monitoring agency appointed by our Company and the deployment of funds are at the discretion of our Management and our Board of Directors, though it shall be monitored by the Audit Committee.

As per SEBI (ICDR) Regulations, 2018, as amended from time to time, appointment of monitoring agency is required only for Offer size above Rs. 5,000.00 Lakhs. Since this Issue Size is less than Rs. 5,000.00 Lakhs, our Company has not appointed any monitoring agency for this Offer. Hence, we have not appointed a monitoring agency to monitor the utilization of Offer proceeds. However, Audit committee of our Board will monitor the utilization of Issue proceeds. Further, our Company shall inform about material deviations in the utilization of Issue proceeds to the NSE and shall also simultaneously make the material deviations / adverse comments of the audit committee public.

EXTERNAL RISK FACTORS:

INDUSTRIAL RISK:-

- 48. Our ability to pay dividends in the future will depend upon our future earnings, financial condition, cash flows, working capital requirements, capital expenditure and restrictive covenants in our financing arrangements.

We may retain all our future earnings, if any, for use in the operations and expansion of our business. As a result, we may not declare dividends in the foreseeable future. Any future determination as to the declaration and payment of dividends will be at the discretion of our Board of Directors and will depend on factors that our Board of Directors deem relevant, including among others, our results of operations, financial condition, cash requirements, business prospects and any other financing arrangements. Accordingly, realization of a gain on shareholders investments may largely depend upon the appreciation of the price of our Equity Shares. There can be no assurance that our Equity Shares will appreciate in value.

- 49. Changing laws, rules and regulations and legal uncertainties, including adverse application of tax laws, may adversely affect our business and financial performance.

Our business and industry are regulated by different laws, rules and regulations framed by the Central and State Government. The regulatory and policy environment in which we operate is evolving and subject to change. These changes may pose challenges to our business, impacting our operational results and future prospects. It's imperative that we remain agile in our response to and compliance with any shifts in applicable laws and policies. Our business and financial performance could be adversely affected by any unexpected or onerous requirements or regulations resulting from the amendment of these laws on a short notice or any changes in laws or interpretation of existing laws, or the promulgation of new laws, rules and regulations relating to GST. A slowdown in economic growth in India may adversely affect our business, financial condition, cash flows, results of operations and other prospects.

We are dependent on domestic, regional and global economic and market conditions. Our performance, growth and market price of our Equity Shares are and will be dependent to a large extent on the health of the economy in which we operate. There have been periods of slowdown in the economic growth of India. Demand for our products may be adversely affected by an economic downturn in domestic, regional and global economies. Economic growth in the country in which we operate is affected by various factors including domestic consumption and savings, balance of trade movements, namely export demand and movements in key imports of materials, global economic uncertainty and liquidity crisis, volatility in exchange currency rates, and annual rainfall which affects agricultural production.

Consequently, any future slowdown in the Indian economy could harm our business, results of operations, financial condition and cash flows. Also, a change in the government or a change in the economic and deregulation policies could adversely affect economic conditions prevalent in the areas in which we operate in general and our business in particular and high rates of inflation in India could increase our costs without proportionately increasing our revenues, and as such decrease our operating margin.

51. Political, economic or other factors that are beyond our control may have an adverse effect on our business and results of operations.

The Indian economy and its securities markets are influenced by economic developments and volatility in securities markets in other countries. Investors' reactions to developments in one country may have adverse effects on the market price of securities of companies located in other countries, including India. Negative economic developments, such as rising fiscal or trade deficits, or a default on national debt, in other emerging market countries may also affect investor confidence and cause increased volatility in Indian securities markets and indirectly affect the Indian economy in general. Any of these factors could depress economic activity and restrict our access to capital, which could have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations and reduce the price of our Equity Shares. Any financial disruption could have an adverse effect on our business, future financial performance, shareholders' equity and the price of our Equity Shares.

52. The occurrence of Hostilities, terrorist attacks, civil unrest and other acts of violence could adversely affect the financial markets and our business.

Terrorist attacks and other acts of violence or war may adversely affect the Indian securities markets. In addition, any deterioration in international relations, between India and its neighbouring countries, may result in investor concern regarding regional stability which could adversely affect the price of the Equity Shares. In addition, India has witnessed local civil disturbances in recent years and it is possible that future civil unrest as well as other adverse social, economic or political events in India could have an adverse effect on our business. Such incidents could also create a greater perception that investment in Indian companies involves a higher degree of risk and could have an adverse effect on our business and the market price of the Equity Shares.

53. Under Indian law, foreign investors are subject to investment restrictions that limit our ability to attract foreign investors, which may adversely affect the trading price of the Equity Shares.

Under foreign exchange regulations currently in force in India, transfer of shares between non-residents and residents are freely permitted (subject to certain exceptions), if they comply with the valuation and reporting requirements specified by the RBI. If a transfer of shares is not in compliance with such requirements and does not fall under any of the exceptions specified by the RBI, then the RBI's or central government's prior approval is required. Additionally, shareholders who seek to convert Rupee proceeds from a sale of shares in India into foreign currency and repatriate that foreign currency from India require a no objection or a tax clearance certificate from the Indian income tax authorities. We cannot assure you that any required approval from the RBI or any other governmental agency can be obtained on any particular terms or at all.

54. The extent and reliability of Indian infrastructure could adversely affect our Company's results of operations and financial condition.

India's physical infrastructure is in developing phase compared to that of many developed nations. Any congestion or disruption in its port, rail and road networks, electricity grid, communication systems or any other public facility could disrupt our Company's normal business activity. Any deterioration of India's physical infrastructure would harm the national economy, disrupt the transportation of goods and supplies, and add costs to doing business in India. These problems could interrupt our Company's business operations, which could have an adverse effect on its results of operations and financial condition.

55. Any downgrading of India's sovereign rating by an independent agency may harm our ability to raise financing.

Any adverse revisions to India's credit ratings for domestic and international debt by international rating agencies may adversely impact our ability to raise additional financing, and the interest rates and other commercial terms at which such additional financing may be available. This could have an adverse effect on our business and future financial performance, our ability to obtain financing for capital expenditures and the trading price of our Equity Shares.

56. Rights of shareholders under Indian laws may be limited than under the laws of other jurisdictions.

Indian legal principles related to corporate procedures, directors' fiduciary duties and liabilities, and shareholders' rights may differ from those that would apply to a company in another jurisdiction. Shareholders' rights including in relation to class actions, under Indian law may not be as extensive as shareholders' rights under the laws of other countries or jurisdictions. Investors may have difficulty in asserting their rights as shareholder in an Indian company than as shareholder of a corporation in another jurisdiction.

57. Inflation in India could have an adverse effect on our profitability and if significant, on our financial condition.

Inflation is typically impacted by factors such as governmental policies, regulations, commodity prices, liquidity and global economic environment. Any change in the government or a change in the economic and deregulation policies could adversely affect the inflation rates. Continued high rates of inflation may increase our costs such as salaries, travel costs and related allowances, which are typically linked to general price levels. While we acknowledge the potential challenges, we remain proactive in exploring avenues to manage any additional costs effectively. We continuously seek opportunities to enhance our revenue streams, ensuring sustained growth and profitability despite potential inflationary impacts. Accordingly, high rates of inflation in India could have an adverse effect on our profitability and, if significant, on our financial condition.

58. Any downgrading of India's debt rating by an international rating agency could have a negative impact on our business and the trading price of the Equity Shares.

India's sovereign debt rating could be downgraded due to various factors, including changes in tax or financial policy or a decrease in India's foreign exchange reserves. India's foreign exchange reserves have grown consistently in the past. (Source: Reserve Bank of India. However, any decline in foreign exchange reserves could adversely affect the valuation of the Indian Rupee and could result in reduced liquidity and higher interest rates that could adversely affect our future financial performance and the market price of the Equity Shares and could result in a downgrade of India's debt ratings. Any adverse revisions to India's credit ratings for domestic and international debt by international rating agencies may adversely affect our ability to raise additional financing, and the interest rates and other commercial terms at which such additional financing is available. This could adversely affect our business and future financial performance and our ability to obtain financing to fund our growth, as well as the trading price of the Equity Shares.

59. Investors may be subject to Indian taxes arising out of capital gains on the sale of the Equity Shares.

Under current Indian tax laws, unless specifically exempted, capital gains arising from the sale of Equity Shares in an Indian company are generally taxable in India. Any gain realized on the sale of listed equity shares on a stock exchange held for more than 12 months will not be subject to long term capital gains tax in India if Securities Transaction Tax ("STT") is paid on the sale transaction and additionally, as stipulated by the Finance Act, 2017. STT had been paid at the time of acquisition of such equity shares, except in the case of such acquisitions where STT could not have been paid, as notified by the Central Government. However, as on the date of this Prospectus, the Central Government has not issued any such notification. Due to uncertainty in the applicability of this provision, the shareholders may be subject to payment of long-term capital gains tax in India, in addition to payment of STT, on the sale of any Equity Shares held for more than 12 months. STT will be levied on and collected by a domestic stock exchange on which the Equity Shares are sold. Further, any gain realized on the sale of listed equity shares held for a period of 12 months or less will be subject to short term capital gains tax in India. Capital gains arising from the sale of the Equity Shares will be exempt from taxation in India in cases where the exemption from taxation in India is provided under a treaty between India and the country of which the seller is resident. Generally, Indian tax treaties do not limit India's ability to impose tax on capital gains. As a result, residents of other countries may be liable for tax in India as well as in their own jurisdiction on a gain upon the sale of the Equity

60. We derive majority of our income from our customers within India. Therefore, factors that adversely affect the demand for our manufacturing and services in India may adversely affect our business.

We have in the past derived and believe that we will continue to derive, a significant portion of our income from our customers within India. In addition, all of our employees are based in India. Consequently, factors that adversely affect the Indian economy or the demand for our manufacturing and services within India, may adversely affect our business and profitability

61. A slowdown in economic growth in India could adversely affect our business, results of operations, financial condition and cash flows.

We are dependent on domestic, regional and global economic and market conditions. Our performance, growth and market price of our Equity Shares are and will be dependent to a large extent on the health of the economy in which we operate. There have been periods of slowdown in the economic growth of India. Demand for our products may be adversely affected by an economic downturn in domestic, regional and global economies. 62. We may be affected by competition laws and any adverse application or interpretation of the Competition Act could adversely affect our business and activities

The Competition Act, 2002, as amended (the “Competition Act”), regulates practices having an appreciable adverse effect on competition in the relevant market in India. Under the Competition Act, any formal or informal arrangement, understanding or action in concert, which causes or is likely to cause an appreciable adverse effect on competition is considered void and results in the imposition of substantial monetary penalties. Further, any agreement among competitors which directly or indirectly involves the determination of purchase or sale prices, limits or controls production, supply, markets, technical development, investment or provision of services, shares the market or source of production or provision of services by way of allocation of geographical area, type of goods or services or number of clients in the relevant market or directly or indirectly results in bid-rigging or collusive bidding is presumed to have an appreciable adverse effect on competition. The Competition Act also prohibits abuse of a dominant position by any enterprise. The Competition Act aims to, among others, prohibit all agreements and transactions which may have an appreciable adverse effect on competition in India. Further, the Competition Commission of India (“CCI”) has extra-territorial powers and can investigate any agreements, abusive conduct or combination occurring outside India if such agreement, conduct or combination has an appreciable adverse effect on competition in India. The applicability or interpretation of the Competition Act to any merger, amalgamation or acquisition proposed or undertaken by us, or any enforcement proceedings initiated by CCI for alleged violation of provisions of the Competition Act may adversely affect our business, financial condition or results of operation.

63. We have not prepared, and currently do not intend to prepare, our financial statements in accordance with the International Financial Reporting Standards (“IFRS”).

Our transition to IFRS reporting could have a material adverse effect on our reported results of operations or financial condition. Public companies in India, including us, may be required to prepare annual and interim financial statements under IFRS in accordance with the roadmap for convergence with IFRS announced by the Ministry of Corporate Affairs, Government of India through a press note dated January 22, 2010 (the “IFRS Convergence Note”). The Ministry of Corporate Affairs by a press release dated February 25, 2011 has notified that 35 Indian Accounting Standards are to be converged with IFRS. The date of implementation of such converged Indian accounting standards has not yet been determined. Our financial condition, results of operations, cash flows or changes in shareholders’ equity may appear materially different under IFRS than under Indian GAAP or our adoption of converged Indian Accounting Standards may adversely affect our reported results of operations or financial condition. This may have a material adverse effect on the amount of income recognized during that Fiscal/period and in the corresponding (restated) Fiscal/period in the comparative Fiscal/period.

64. Financial instability in other countries may cause increased volatility in Indian financial markets.

The Indian market and the Indian economy are influenced by economic and market conditions in other countries, including conditions in the United States, Europe and certain emerging economies in Asia.

Financial turmoil in Asia, United States, United Kingdom, Russia and elsewhere in the world in recent years has adversely affected the Indian economy. Any worldwide financial instability may cause increased volatility in the Indian financial markets and, directly or indirectly, adversely affect the Indian economy and financial sector and us. Although economic conditions vary across markets, loss of investor confidence in one emerging economy may cause increased volatility across other economies, including India. Financial instability in other parts of the world could have a global influence and thereby negatively affect the Indian economy. Financial disruptions could materially and adversely affect our business prospects, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows. Further, economic developments globally can have an impact on our principal markets. Concerns related to trade war between large economies may lead to increased risk aversion and volatility in global capital markets and consequently have an impact on the Indian economy. In response to such developments, legislators and financial regulators in the United States and other jurisdictions, including India, implemented a number of policy measures designed to add stability to the financial markets. However, the long-term effect of these and other legislative and regulatory efforts on the global financial markets is uncertain, and they may not have the intended stabilizing effects. Any significant financial disruption could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operation. These developments, or the perception that any of them could occur, have had and may continue to have a material adverse effect on global economic conditions and the stability of global financial markets, and may significantly reduce global market liquidity, restrict the ability of key market participants to operate in certain financial markets or restrict our access to capital. This could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations and reduce the price of the Equity Shares.

65. Wage pressures and increases in operating costs in India may prevent us from sustaining our competitive advantage and may reduce our profit margins.

Wage and operating expenses increase in India may prevent us from sustaining this competitive advantage and may negatively affect our profit margins. Wages in India are increasing at a faster rate than in the developed economies, which could result in increased employee benefit expenses. We may need to continue to increase the levels of our employee compensation to remain competitive and manage attrition. Further, The Code on Wages, 2019 received the assent of the President of India on August 8, 2019 and proposes to subsume four existing laws namely, the Payment of Wages Act, 1936, the Minimum Wages Act, 1948, the Payment of Bonus Act, 1965 and the Equal Remuneration Act, 1976. The provisions of this code will be brought into force on a date to be notified by the Central Government. This may impact our wage structure and may lead to increased wage payments to our employees. Additionally, the cost of operating expenses is also increasing as India continues to grow. Compensation increases manifest a hike in operational costs which may result in a material adverse effect on our business and financial condition and result of operations.

As a listed company, we will incur legal, accounting, corporate governance, compliance and other administrative expenses that we did not incur earlier. We will be required to comply with the provisions of the Listing Regulations, including filing of audited annual and unaudited quarterly financial results, making timely disclosures of material events, maintaining statutory registers, and ensuring accurate and timely reporting of changes in our financial and operational performance. Further, some of our Directors do not have prior experience in managing a listed company, and their ability to adapt to the increased responsibilities, reporting obligations and compliance standards applicable to a listed entity may take time. Any delay or inability in adjusting to these new requirements could affect our ability to operate efficiently as a listed company.

69. Holders of Equity Shares may be restricted in their ability to exercise pre-emptive rights under Indian law and thereby suffer future dilution of their ownership position.

Under the Companies Act, a company incorporated in India must Issue its equity shareholders pre-emptive rights to subscribe and pay for a proportionate number of equity shares to maintain their existing ownership percentages prior to issuance of any new equity shares, unless the pre-emptive rights have been waived by the adoption of a special resolution by holders of three-fourths of the equity shares voting on such resolution. However, if the law of the jurisdiction that you are in does not permit the exercise of such pre-emptive rights without our filing an offering document or registration statement with the applicable authority in such jurisdiction, you will be unable to exercise such preemptive rights, unless we make such a filing. If we elect not to file a registration statement, the new securities may be offered to a custodian, who may sell the securities for your benefit. The value such custodian receives on the sale of any such securities and the related transaction costs cannot be predicted. To the extent that you are unable to exercise pre-emptive rights granted in respect of our Equity Shares, your proportional interests in our Company may be reduced.

70. Investors will not be able to sell immediately on an Indian stock exchange any of the Equity Shares they purchase in the Issue.

The Equity Shares will be listed on the Stock Exchanges. Pursuant to applicable Indian laws, certain actions must be completed before the Equity Shares can be listed and trading in the Equity Shares may commence. Investors' book entry, or 'demat' accounts with depository participants in India, are expected to be credited with the Equity Shares within one working day of the date on which the Basis of Allotment is approved by the Stock Exchanges. The Allotment of Equity Shares in this Issue and the credit of such Equity Shares to the applicant's demat account with 55 depository participants could take approximately two Working Days from the Bid Closing Date and trading in the Equity Shares upon receipt of final listing and trading approvals from the Stock Exchanges is expected to commence within three Working Days of the Bid Closing Date. There could be a failure or delay in listing of the Equity Shares on the Stock Exchanges. Any failure or delay in obtaining the approval or otherwise any delay in commencing trading in the Equity Shares would restrict investors' ability to dispose of their Equity Shares. There can be no assurance that the Equity Shares will be credited to investors' demat accounts, or that trading in the Equity Shares will commence, within the time periods specified in this risk factor.

In case of a shortfall in raising requisite capital from the Net Proceeds or an increase in the total estimated cost of the Objects, business considerations may require us to explore a range of options including utilising our internal accruals, general corporate purposes and seeking additional debt from existing and future lenders. We believe that such alternate arrangements would be available to fund any such shortfalls. Further, in case of variations in the actual utilization of funds earmarked for the purposes set forth above, increased fund requirements for a particular purpose may be financed by surplus funds, if any, available in respect of the other purposes for which funds are being raised in the Fresh Offer. To the extent our Company is unable to utilise any portion of the Net Proceeds towards the aforementioned objects, per the estimated scheduled of deployment specified above, our Company shall deploy the Net Proceeds in subsequent Fiscals towards the aforementioned Objects.

(The holding periods of respective periods have been calculated assuming 365 days in a year)

Asset-Current Assets
Trade Receivables	Our company generally sold goods on credit to our customers for an average credit period of 18 days, 21 days and 21 days in the FY 2022-23, FY 2023-24 and FY 2024-25 respectively. The debtors are broadly of three categories, namely, (i) large corporate manufactures, (ii) Traders, (iii) Mid sized & small sized firms. Large corporate manufactures comprise the once who are located outside Orissa. These manufactures procure supply of printed paper based disposable tableware for their in-house consumption. The products are usually sold them in large containers having minimum ticket size of Rs. 10 Lacs and above. The traders are those who act as intermediary for supply of the company's product to wholesaler and retailers. While the mid-sized & small Sized are organization who either use the product for further processing or sale the same product on retail basis. The credit period extended to different categories of customers usually depends on order volume and lead time of delivering the order. The large manufactures are extended credit of around 15-30 days, while traders and mid sized & small sized firms are supplied from taking advance payments to credit period of 15-20 days. Out of the orders that the company usually gets, a substantial part consists of goods that are repetitive in nature. Thus, the company produces only what is needed and when it is needed with customized designs. It also focuses continuously on product innovations and streamline supply chains ensuring customer satisfaction and meeting customer's delivery deadline. These approach makes the management believe that the company can negotiate to bring the projected average credit period to 18 days for both the FY 2025-26 and FY 2026-27 respectively.

Inventories	Raw Material: Our Company procures raw material like paper, poster paper, polyethylene, polypropylene, aluminum foil rolls and packing materials. In the FY 2022-23, FY 2023-24 and FY 2024- 25, our Company had maintained raw material inventory levels for 69 days, 96 days and 84 days respectively. Raw materials are majorly procured from certain domestic suppliers with whom our Company has long standing business relationships. The reason for holding such higher levels of raw material inventory is as follows; 1. The suppliers of paper usually run their production on a batch system only on specific days in a month subject to having advance orders, thereby to overcome from stock out cost the company prefers to hold large inventories, 2. The company enjoys bulk discounts based on volumes and earlier payments and also bringing larger volumes of inventories reduces the cost of inward transportation resulting in better profitability, 3. After procurement of raw material the manufacturing process involves various smaller steps which are executed in various sequences based on the final product that is required to be manufactured. These steps involve namely, Extrusion Coating, Flexographic Printing, Roll Slitting of larger rolls into small rolls in terms of width (Slitting) and Roll Die Punching of rolls into required shapes and sizes (fully automatic). Based on these steps a part of the resulted products are sold in the market to other manufactures for their in-house production while the other part is processed further. The product after passing through this stage is still considered in raw materials, 4. The requirement of company's product varies from customer preferences, order volume and certain pre-occasional orders. To provide the customers with a flexibility of shorter lead time simultaneously meeting their order description, the company has to keep inventory of 2-3 months. 5. The company proposes to setup a new aluminum foil container unit, having a better inventory turnover ratio with additional product segment. This will help to push raw material inventory into faster conversion to finished goods, thereby reducing the need of higher raw material Inventory holding. For the year ended on March 31, 2026 raw material holding period is estimated to be at 76 days. For FY 2026-27 holding period is estimated to decrease significantly to 63 days as we project in improving our supply chain facilities to support our increased sale and therefore keeping optimum level of Raw material ready for process. WIP: For FY 2022-23, FY 2023-24 and FY 2024-25, WIP inventory level has been maintained at 13 days, 27 days and 52 days respectively. The reason for such gradual increase in the holding days of WIP is the reason that the company gets frequents orders depending upon the needs of the market and customer preference. The order received from customer may vary depending upon different styles, preferences and textures. The raw material being paper used by the company comes in a single set of defined weights. As the order received are of different quantities, textures and styles therefore the company maintains inventory in semi-processed form till such point were it can easily mould its products as per specific customer preferences, enabling it to process upcoming orders at a lesser time and meet customer deadlines in shorter period. This strategy differentiates the company from the other supplier of similar category of goods, helping gain customer trust and loyalty. Additionally, introduction of new segment of aluminum foil container will boost the inventory turnover by penetrating it to existing customers. The company estimated a holding of WIP levels to remain at 61 days in the FY 2025-26 keeping more semi processed goods which will eventually reduce to 44 days in FY 2026-27 with additional segment. Finished Goods: In the FY 2022-23, FY 2023-24 and FY 2024-25, our Company maintained finished goods inventory levels for 27 days, 55 days and 69 days respectively. The company produces variety of customer centric paper-based products, where a major part of the order is repetitive. It produces such products in advance to cater demand which is untimely and volatile. Besides, this the company receives advance order sometimes upto 2-3 months in prior from its customers, when there is any upcoming festival or marriage season or particular season, to meet high seasonal demands ensuring continuous supply of products like sweet boxes, pizza boxes, paper bags, aluminum home foils, paper cups and paper plates. The prior orders are given by customers to safeguard against surges in the price at peak seasons enabling better profits for its customers aligning with over the year orders for the company. The company majorly operates on Pull model to cater its products volatile demand. Thereby needs to maintain sufficient volume of Finished Goods to cater sudden and preplanned orders. The company proposes to push other variants of existing products to customers resulting in quicker sales, estimating the finished goods inventory to remain at 60 days for FY 2025-26 and 43 days for FY 2026-27.

Liabilities-Current Liabilities
Trade Payables	Company's trade payables predominantly comprise of payables towards purchase of raw materials & consumables. The trade payable days were approximately 12 days, 2 days and 5 days of purchases for FY 2022-23, FY 2023-24 and FY 2024-25, respectively. As the company benefits from dual discounts one with volume discounts and the other with payment discounts, helping the company being able to provide finished products at a very competitive rate in the market. The us the company expects the outstanding credit days to remain at 5 days for both the FY 2025-26 and FY 2026-27. Our Company has proposed to utilize a certain portion of the fresh issue proceeds towards working capital requirements at our proposed manufacturing facility setup of making aluminum foil container which is expected to commence its operations during the beginning of second half of the FY 2027. This funds will be utilized to pay creditors for procuring the input material of the new plant.
Working Capital Cycle	Our company generally maintains working capital of 115 days, 196 days and 221 days in the FY 2022-23, FY 2023-24 and FY 2024-25 respectively. The major reason for such a higher cycle is generally holding of inventory comprising of various grades of paper and other consumables based on past orders & market trends for meeting pre-seasonal orders, untimely orders and customized orders. Moreover, one more reason is early payment of creditors enabling to secure materials at favorable rate from its suppliers. Thus, this longer duration of holding paid inventory benefits the company from Pull based production and feed-forward approach helping company enjoy better profits. The same are projected to be 209 days and 164 days for the FY 2025-26 and FY 2026-27 respectively.

Moreover, the management of accounts receivable and payable is integral to our working capital requirements. As we supply more than hundreds of varieties of products to various clients, including catering to clients of food & beverages, hygiene and sanitary and FMCG industry, the timely collection of payments from debtors directly impacts our cash flow. Justification for increase in working capital requirement in FY 2026 and FY 2027

The Company's working capital requirement stood at Rs 1747.15 lakhs in FY2023, Rs. 2256.22 lakhs in FY2024 and Rs. 2618.35 lakhs in FY2025, while the same is projected to be at Rs. 2882.00 lakhs in FY2026 and Rs. 3722.97 lakhs in FY2027.

Here are the reasons for the rise in the working capital requirement in FY2026 compared to FY2025

Higher Inventory: Inventory is seeing an increase of 2.78% from Rs. 2450.46 lakhs in FY2025 to Rs 2518.66 lakhs in FY2026. Though the quantum of inventory has increased but its holding days declined from 205 days in FY2025 to 197 days in FY2026. Reason for increase in inventory is increased projected sales of the company.

The absolute rise in inventory is primarily driven by:

- a. Inventory Management to secure sales: Our company is engaged in the manufacturing of paper based disposable tableware and serviettes products. Due to the volatile nature of market demand—including both pre-seasonal bulk orders and sudden, untimely customer requests—we must maintain a high level of operational flexibility.
To ensure reduced delivery lead times while consistently meeting stringent quality standards and specific customer preferences, we are required to hold substantial inventory across all stages of production. This includes raw materials (unprocessed), work-in-progress (semi-processed), and finished goods (fully processed). This approach enables us to respond swiftly to fluctuating demand while upholding our commitment to quality and customer satisfaction.
- b. Increased Product variants: The company maintains various product differentiation depending upon styles, thickness and textures to cater the variety needs of the industry. Providing the customers with more options and styles of finished products helping in gaining market share and becoming first choice for the customers.
- c. Reduce stock out cost: The company ensures to keep and maintain inventories to cover all types of orders in its line of business. Supplying with customer preferred specifications and scheduled time enables the company to earn brand value, trust and loyalty.

Increase Trade Receivables: Trade receivables of our company is seeing a significant increase of 23.93% from Rs. 294.79 lakhs in FY2025 to Rs. 365.32 lakhs in FY2026. The trade receivable as a percentage to revenue represents 6.42% in FY2026 while the same is at 6.06% in FY2025. In terms of days, it is projected to decrease in trade receivable holding period from 21 days in FY2025 to 18 days in FY2026.

The absolute increase in trade receivables is primarily attributed to our strategic efforts in deepening market penetration and broadening our product portfolio. As part of our growth strategy, we have introduced additional product lines within the paper-based disposable tableware and serviettes category, aiming to position ourselves as a comprehensive, one-stop solution provider for our buyers. By expanding the range of products offered under a single platform, we are not only meeting diverse customer requirements but also encouraging larger and more frequent orders from existing and new buyers. This has led to increased sales volumes across multiple product categories.

Decrease in Trade payables: Historically, creditors stood at Rs. 43.32 Lakhs in FY2023, Rs. 5.10 Lakhs in FY2024 and Rs. 127.81 Lakhs in FY2025. Moving forward, the Company plans to maintain same level of creditors days in FY26 by expediting payments to suppliers to avail cash discounts linked to earlier payments. The Company wishes to leverage cash discounts, thereby enhancing profitability margins and strengthening supplier relationships. The creditors are expected to be at Rs. 3.65 Lakhs in FY 2026 as compared to Rs. 127.81 in FY 2025.

All these above-mentioned factors have led to an increase in the net working capital requirement of the Company for FY2026 as compared to FY2025 from Rs. 2618.35 lakhs to Rs. 2882.00 lakhs.

Reasons for the rise in the working capital requirement in FY2027 compared to FY2026

Increase in Inventory: Our company plans to maintain adequate inventory levels to support its operational policy which will project a jump in inventory by 24.15% from Rs. 2518.66 lakhs in FY2026 to Rs. 3152.13 lakhs in FY2027. In terms of days inventory holding is anticipated to decrease from 197 days in FY2026 to 150 days in FY2027. Reason for increase in value of Inventory:

- Introduction of New Product Segment: The company plans to start the commercial production of proposed manufacturing facility of aluminum foil container from the beginning of second half of FY 2027. This additional segment will require a need to maintain a higher inventory level to meet the market demand and customer preferences.

- Diversification within Existing Product Portfolio: In addition to launching a new product segment, the company also intends to enhance its current paper-based disposable product range by introducing greater variety and uniqueness. These additions are aimed at fulfilling evolving consumer needs—particularly in the area of disposable carrying and serving solutions—and strengthening the company’s competitive position. This expansion will also contribute to increased inventory holdings to ensure product availability, customization options, and reduced lead times for customers.

Increase in Trade receivables: Trade receivables of our company is seeing a significant increase of 68.62% from Rs. 365.62 lakhs in FY2026 to Rs. 616.00 lakhs in FY2027. The trade receivable as a percentage to revenue of our company represents 7.41 % in FY2027 as compared to 6.42 % in FY2026. In terms of days, it is projected to maintain the same level of trade receivable holding period of 18 days in FY2027.as compared with FY2026. This increase in absolute value of trade receivable is majorly linked with the increase in projected revenue of the company on account of additional product segments, diversification of existing product basket and catering to customer specific timely demands.

Increase in Trade Payables: Our company projected creditors days to maintain at same level of 5 days in FY2027. With the additional segments there is a need for procurement of more raw materials to support the business operations, which will increase the working capital requirement. The Company expects to have outstanding dues of creditors at Rs. 183.91 lakhs which is 4.94% of total working capital requirement in Fiscal 2027. Maintaining the same time to payoff our payables we aim to negotiate on more favorable terms and conditions with our suppliers, enabling us to access competitive pricing for the raw materials we procure.

Above reasons taken together influenced the working capital requirement our company in FY2027.

2. Prepayment or repayment of all or a portion of certain secured loans availed by our Company
Our Company has entered into various financing arrangements from time to time, with various lenders. The financing arrangements availed by our Company include, inter alia secured loans, term loans and working capital facilities. For further details, please refer Chapter titled “Financial Indebtedness” on page no 331 of the Draft Red Herring Prospectus.

A Brief Details regarding the Usage of Machinery

Automated Aluminum Foil Container – 4 quantity

An aluminum foil container making machine automates the mass production of aluminum foil containers by transforming rolls of foil into desired shapes and sizes for food packaging, baking, and takeout meals. The machines use processes like unwinding, feeding, punching, and molding to create various containers with minimal human intervention. Their usage offers benefits such as increased production rates, cost reduction, consistent quality, and the ability to produce a wide range of container products

Scrap Bailer – 2 quantity

Scrap baler machines are used with aluminum foil container production to compact and bale the excess aluminum scrap, or "trims," that are produced during the manufacturing process. This significantly reduces the volume of waste, making it easier and more cost-effective to store, handle, and transport the scrap for recycling. These automated systems often integrate directly with the foil container-making machines, using suction or conveying systems to move the scrap into the baler for high-density compression into manageable blocks.

Moulds- 14 quantity

Moulds are essential in aluminum foil container production, acting as the die that shapes a continuous roll of aluminum foil into specific containers like trays and pans. These precision-engineered tools are made from high-quality steel or aluminum alloys and press the foil into the desired form, ensuring accurate size, shape, and strength for various food packaging applications. The molds' role is to create reliable containers that can withstand heat and pressure, making them suitable for cooking, baking, and storing food items.

Compressor & Dryer- 7 quantity

Compressors and air dryers are essential for the automatic manufacturing of aluminum foil containers, where an air compressor supplies the necessary air pressure for the forming dies to shape the foil into containers. A dryer is used to remove moisture from the compressed air, ensuring its quality and preventing corrosion of the machinery.

Transformer- 1 quantity

Transformers are used to convert required power as per appropriate requirement, providing the power needed for machinery like stamping and forming presses, using either external grid power or an on-site generator. The machines used require high-power electrical components to cut and shape the aluminum foil into containers. Thereby the use of transformers offer benefits like greater energy efficiency, smaller size, uniform heat distribution, and a high space utilization rate.

Electrical Installations- 26 quantity

The panel boards house electrical components for machinery, while cable trays provide organized, safe pathways for power, control, and data cables, ensuring proper ventilation and minimizing damage. This setup protects cables from the factory environment, simplifies maintenance and troubleshooting, and reduces the risk of electrical hazards like short circuits and fires.

Voltage Stabilizer- 1 quantity

A stabilizer acts as a protective device that maintains a constant, optimal voltage for connected appliances by regulating fluctuations in the incoming power supply. It monitors the electrical input and automatically boosts low voltage or reduces high voltage, providing a safe and consistent output that prevents damage, improves appliance performance, and extends their lifespan.

Conveyor- 2 quantity

They are used for automating assembly lines, handling raw materials, moving finished goods in warehouses, sorting and diverting items, and moving bulk materials over long distances or varying elevations. It helps in reducing manual labor and increasing throughput, conveyor belts enhance operational efficiency and productivity while improving worker safety.

Fire Fighting Systems- 6 quantity

- The Fire Pumping Section provides the necessary water pressure and flow from a reservoir to the fire mains, ensuring adequate water supply to hydrants and sprinklers.
- Fire Hydrant Systems serves as a strategic water outlets. External hydrants are for firefighters to connect hoses from the main water supply. Internal hydrants provide hose reels and water on each floor of a building for immediate use.

- Fire Sprinkler Systems automatically detects fire by heat, activating to spray water and suppress or extinguish the fire.
- Fire Detection and Alarm Systems employ's detectors (heat, smoke, flame) to sense fire byproducts and activate alarms to alert occupants and trigger other emergency responses.
- Public Address system is used to broadcast important safety information, evacuation instructions, or emergency communication to building occupants during a fire event.
- Fire Extinguishers & Fire Buckets, act as immediate, first-response tools for small, incipient fires. Extinguishers are portable devices containing extinguishing agents, while buckets with valves and accessories are for delivering and controlling water.

Dock Leveler- 2 quantity

A dock leveler is used to bridge the height and distance difference between a warehouse or loading dock and a truck or trailer bed, creating a smooth, safe, and stable transition for forklifts and other material handling equipment to load and unload goods efficiently.

Material Handling Equipment's- 3 quantity

A semi-electric stacker lifts with a motor & moves manually for stacking and shifting pallets in warehouses and logistics, while a semi-electric pallet truck uses an electric motor for lifting but requires manual pushing for transport, being ideal for short-distance, horizontal movement. A hydraulic pallet truck, often a manual version, uses a foot-pump operated hydraulic system to lift and lower loads for moving pallets.

STATEMENT OF SPECIAL TAX BENEFITS AVAILABLE TO THE COMPANY AND TO THE SHAREHOLDERS OF THE COMPANY UNDER THE DIRECT TAX LAWS

Outlined below are the special tax benefits available to the Company and to its shareholders under the Income-tax Act, 1961 ('the Act') as amended by the Finance Act (No.2) 2024, i.e., applicable for the Financial Year 2024-25 relevant to the Assessment Year 2025-26, as amended and presently in force in India (together, the "Direct Tax Laws").

A. SPECIAL DIRECT TAX BENEFITS AVAILABLE TO THE COMPANY

1. Section 115JB - Minimum Alternate Tax (MAT)

Section 115JB of the Income Tax Act, 1961 ensures that companies with significant book profits but negligible or no taxable income due to deductions or exemptions pay a minimum tax. MAT is levied at 15% of book profits (plus Surcharge and Education Cess) and applies to all companies except specific exemptions like SEZ units.

MAT is levied at the rate of 9% (plus surcharge and cess as applicable) in case of a company, which is a unit of an International Financial Services Centre and deriving its income solely in convertible foreign exchange.

The objective of introduction of MAT is to bring into the tax net "zero tax companies" which in spite of having earned substantial book profits and having paid handsome dividends, do not pay any tax due to various tax concessions and incentives provided under the Income-tax Law.

This provision promotes tax fairness, ensures transparency by relying on audited book profits, and broadens the tax base. Many companies adopt this mechanism as part of their compliance with tax regulations to meet minimum tax obligations while utilizing MAT credit for future benefits.

Our company has availed the option of MAT provisions during the AY 2023-24 (FY 2022-23) and AY 2024-25 (FY 2023-24) to ensure compliance with tax regulations, contributing fairly to the tax system while optimizing available MAT credit for future adjustments.

2. Lower corporate tax rate under section 115BAA of the Income Tax Act, 1961

A new section 115BAA has been inserted in the Act by the Taxation Laws (Amendment) Act, 2019 ("the Amendment Act, 2019") w.e.f. April 1, 2020 (A.Y. 2020-21). Section 115BAA grants an option to a domestic company to be governed by the section from a particular assessment year. If a company opts for section 115BAA of the Act, it can pay corporate tax at a reduced rate of 25.168% (22% plus surcharge of 10% and education cess of 4%). Section 115BAA of the Act further provides that domestic companies availing the option will not be required to pay Minimum Alternate Tax (MAT) on their 'book profits' under section 115JB of the Act.

However, such a company will no longer be eligible to avail specified exemptions/ incentives under the Act and will also need to comply with the other conditions specified in section 115BAA. Also, if a company opts for section 115BAA, the tax credit (under section 115JAA), if any, which it is entitled to on account of MAT paid in earlier years, will no longer be available. Further, it shall not be allowed to claim set-off of any brought forward loss arising to it on account of additional depreciation and other specified incentives.

The Company has evaluated and opted for the lower corporate tax rate of 25.168% (prescribed under section 115BAA of the Act) with effect from Assessment Year 2025-26 (FY 2024-25).

3. Deduction in respect of inter-corporate dividends - Section 80M of the Income Tax Act, 1961

Up to 31st March 2020, any dividend paid to a shareholder by a company was liable to Dividend Distribution Tax (“DDT”), and the recipient shareholder was exempt from tax under section 10(34) of the Act. Pursuant to the amendment made by the Finance Act, 2020, DDT stands abolished, and dividend received by a shareholder on or after 1st April 2020 is liable to tax in the hands of the shareholder. The Company is required to deduct Tax Deducted at Source (“TDS”) at applicable rate specified under the Act read with applicable Double Taxation Avoidance Agreement (if any). With respect to a resident corporate shareholder, a new section 80M has been inserted in the Act to remove the cascading effect of taxes on inter-corporate dividends during FY 2020-21 and thereafter. The section provides that where the gross total income of a domestic company in any previous year includes any income by way of dividends from any other domestic company or a foreign company or a business trust, there shall, in accordance with and subject to the provisions of this section, be allowed in computing the total income of such domestic company, a deduction of an amount equal to so much of the amount of income by way of dividends received from such other domestic company or foreign company or business trust as does not exceed the amount of dividend distributed by it on or before the due date. The “due date” means the date one month prior to the date for furnishing the return of income under sub-section (1) of section 139 of the Act.

4. Buyback of shares - Section 115QA of the Income Tax Act, 1961

Any amount distributed by the Company pursuant to buyback of shares undertaken prior to October 1, 2024, from its shareholders shall be liable to buyback tax at 23.296% in the hands of the Company on distributed income (buyback price less issue price). Further, such transaction shall be exempt in the hands of the shareholders under section 10(34A) of the Act. Pursuant to amendment in Finance Act (No.2) 2024, the provisions of section 115QA shall not apply for buy back of shares which takes place on or after October 01, 2024. Thus, there would be no tax on buy back for the Company effective from October 01, 2024. Further, the Company is required to withhold tax at 10% provided the aggregate amount of dividend to the resident shareholders exceeds ₹ 5,000 during the financial year. Further, for non-resident shareholders tax shall be withheld at 20%, subject to benefit under Double Taxation Avoidance Agreement.

Further, in case of non-resident, capital gain shall be computed without giving effect to first and second proviso to section 48, except in case listed securities or zero-coupon bond, where first proviso of section 48 is available.

GLOBAL ECONOMIC OVERVIEW

Global growth is slowing due to a substantial rise in trade barriers and the pervasive effects of an uncertain global policy environment. Growth is expected to weaken to 2.3 percent in 2025, with deceleration in most economies relative to last year. This would mark the slowest rate of global growth since 2008, aside from outright global recessions. In 2026-27, a tepid recovery is expected, leaving global output materially below January projections. Progress by emerging market and developing economies (EMDEs) in closing per capita income gaps with advanced economies and reducing extreme poverty is anticipated to remain insufficient. The outlook largely hinges on the evolution of trade policy globally. Growth could turn out to be lower if trade restrictions escalate or if policy uncertainty persists, which could also result in a build-up of financial stress. Other downside risks include weaker-than-expected growth in major economies with adverse global spillovers, worsening conflicts, and extreme weather events. On the upside, uncertainty and trade barriers could diminish if major economies reach lasting agreements that address trade tensions. The ongoing global headwinds underscore the need for determined multilateral policy efforts to foster a more predictable and transparent environment for resolving trade tensions, some of which stem from macroeconomic imbalances. Global policy efforts are also needed to confront the deteriorating circumstances of vulnerable EMDEs amid prevalent conflict and debt distress, while addressing long-standing challenges, including the effects of climate change. National policy makers need to contain risks related to inflation as well as strengthen their fiscal positions by raising additional domestic revenues and re-prioritizing spending. To facilitate job creation and boost long-term growth prospects in EMDEs, reforms are essential to enhance institutional quality, stimulate private investment growth, develop human capital, and improve labor market functioning.

After being buffeted by a series of adverse shocks over 2020-24, the global economy is facing another significant headwind this year, with increased trade barriers and heightened policy uncertainty leading to a notable deterioration of the outlook relative to January (figure 1.1.A). In particular, global output is expected to grow at its weakest pace since 2008, aside from outright global recessions (figure 1.1.B). The sharp increase in tariffs and the ensuing uncertainty are contributing to a broad-based growth slowdown and deteriorating prospects in most of the world's economies (figure 1.1.C). Subdued global growth prospects are unlikely to improve materially without policy actions to address increasing trade restrictions, geopolitical tensions, heightened uncertainty, and limited fiscal space.

The global outlook is predicated on tariff rates close to those of late May prevailing throughout the forecast horizon. Accordingly, pauses to previously announced tariff hikes between the Note: This chapter was prepared by Carlos Arteta, Phil Kenworthy, Nikita Perevalov, Peter Selcuk, Garima Vasishtha, and Collette Wheeler, with contributions from Mirco Balatti, Jongrim Ha, Samuel Hill, Gitanjali Kumar, Dawit Mekonnen, Alen Mulabdic, Edoardo Palombo, Shijie Shi, Naotaka Sugawara, and Takuma Tanaka. United States and its trading partners are assumed to persist. This baseline nonetheless entails the highest U.S. average effective tariff rate in nearly a century. In addition, in view of recent rapid shifts in trade policies and the potential for a return to even higher tariffs, consumers and businesses continue to grapple with unusually elevated uncertainty (figure 1.1.D). In this context, a prospective recovery in global trade and investment—two important drivers of long-term development that have been relatively subdued in recent years—has been disrupted.

Commodity prices plunged in early April in response to deteriorating growth prospects. Oil prices posted an especially large decline, with the effects of a notable hike in oil production by OPEC+ nations compounded by a muted outlook for oil demand growth (figure 1.1.E). Base metal prices also dropped as markets priced in substantial headwinds to global manufacturing and industrial activity but have since partially recovered. Overall commodity prices are forecast to decline by 10 percent in 2025, softening further in 2026—mainly due to falling oil prices.

Global headline inflation generally remains elevated relative to central bank targets and pre-pandemic averages and has even risen in some advanced economies since late last year. Slower disinflation globally over the last six months has largely reflected continuing inflationary pressures from services prices. The recent rise in consumer inflation expectations has been influenced by the implementation of trade restrictions. In addition, core inflation in some economies is expected to remain high due to persistent services price increases. In all, GDP-weighted global inflation is projected to average 2.9 percent in 2025 and 2026—still a little above the average inflation target—but with notable heterogeneity across economies.

Global financial conditions have been tighter this year, on average, relative to late 2024, principally reflecting trade policy uncertainty. Volatility in financial markets spiked and equity markets plunged globally as trade tensions escalated in early April; however, asset prices largely recovered after an initial 90-day tariff pause was announced and following the rollback in U.S.-China tariffs in May (figure 1.1.F). Long-term government bond yields in major advanced economies have increased since late last year, albeit with pronounced volatility. EMDE financial conditions are also somewhat tighter, on average, relative to late last year. In early April, many EMDEs saw sharp declines in equity markets amid a surge in capital outflows. Sovereign spreads rose, albeit to differing degrees based on economies' exposure to announced trade barriers. Nevertheless, EMDE equity markets regained ground and spreads narrowed again following the partial de-escalation in trade tensions.

Against this backdrop, global growth is set to slow this year, to 2.3 percent—substantially weaker than previously projected amid the impact of higher trade barriers, elevated uncertainty, increased financial volatility, and weakened confidence. Thereafter, growth is forecast to firm to about 2.5 percent over 2026-27, as trade flows continue adjusting to higher tariffs such that global trade edges up, while policy uncertainty moderates from record-high levels.

GLOBAL OUTLOOK

At the start of the year, WTO economists expected to see continued expansion of world trade in 2025 and 2026, with merchandise trade volume growth picking up gradually over time in line with GDP, and commercial services trade volume growing even faster. A profusion of new tariff measures announced and implemented since January prompted WTO economists to re-examine the trade landscape, resulting in a significant downgrade to the outlook for merchandise trade, and a smaller reduction in the outlook for services trade.

After adjusting baseline projections to account for the impact of recently announced tariffs and heightened trade policy uncertainty, WTO economists now foresee a -0.2% contraction in merchandise trade in 2025 – down from +2.9% in 2024 – followed by a 2.5% increase in 2026 reflecting weaker global demand. Meanwhile, growth in commercial services trade is expected to slow to 4.0% this year from 6.8% last year before ticking up to 4.1% next year.

Baseline projections suggest that merchandise trade growth could have been as high as 2.7% in 2025 and 2.9% in 2026 had tariffs and uncertainty remained low. Meanwhile, services trade growth could have reached 5.1% this year and 4.8% next year.

Risks to the forecast include the possible reinstatement of the currently suspended “reciprocal tariffs” proposed by the United States, as well as the spread of trade policy uncertainty to non-US trade relationships. If enacted, reciprocal tariffs would reduce global merchandise trade volume growth by 0.6 percentage points in 2025 while spreading trade policy uncertainty could shave off another 0.8 percentage points, posing particular risks for least developed countries (LDCs). Together, reciprocal tariffs and spreading trade policy uncertainty would lead to a 1.5% decline in world merchandise trade in 2025. These scenarios are explored in detail in the Analytical Chapter below.

The recent tariff disturbances follow a strong year for world trade in 2024 where merchandise trade grew 2.9% and commercial services trade rose 6.8%. Meanwhile, market-weighted world GDP grew 2.8%, making 2024 the first year since 2017 (excluding the rebound from the COVID-19 pandemic) where merchandise trade grew faster than output.

The US$ dollar value of world merchandise exports in 2024 increased by 2% to US$ 24.43 trillion, including trade within the European Union. China was the largest exporter (US$ 3.58 trillion) while the United States remained the largest importer (US$ 3.36 trillion). The European Union was the second largest trader on both the export side (US$ 2.80 trillion) and the import side (US$ 2.63 trillion).

The value of world commercial services exports in 2024 rose 9% to US$ 8.69 trillion. The United States was both the largest exporter (US$ 1.08 trillion) and the largest importer (US$ 787 billion). However, if the European Union is counted as a single entity, its trade with the rest of the world was larger (US$ 1.64 trillion for exports, US$ 1.44 for imports).

ECONOMIC OUTLOOK 2025-26: Managing Uncertainty

- 1. The US has kicked off a full-fledged trade war: On 2 April, US president Donald Trump announced “reciprocal” tariffs that exceeded expectations, with products imported from China set to be taxed at a staggering 130% from 10 April. The Liberation Day announcements included a universal minimum tariff of 10%, taking effect on 5 April at 12:01 a.m. President Trump also originally decided to impose individualized reciprocal higher tariffs on over 50 countries with which the US has the largest trade deficits, but ultimately announced a 90-day pause for all these countries except China. They are thus subject to only +10pps tariff hikes, while China is facing +125pps. Accounting for sectoral exclusions that were listed in the Executive Order (e.g. semiconductors, pharmaceuticals, copper, minerals), the US effective tariff rate on China now stands at 130%, while the EU faces 9%. All the tariff hikes bring the US global import tariff rate to 25.5%, the highest level since the 1890s. We assume bilateral deals could lower the US import tariff rate to 10.2% by Q4 2025.
- 2. In 2025, global GDP growth will slump to a mere +2.3%, the lowest level since the pandemic. Global economic growth is set to decelerate by -0.6pp from +2.9% in 2024 due to the US trade war. The current level of global uncertainty is as high as it was during the Covid-19 pandemic. The US will enter a mild recession (cumulative decline of -0.5% Q1-Q3), with a weak +0.8% in 2025, due to ongoing policy disruptions, import tariff hikes and retaliation tariffs from China. Europe will not escape lower growth due to higher trade restrictions and a weaker US economy, despite the German fiscal stimulus and higher defense spending. We have cut forecasts to +0.8% in 2025 and +1.5% in 2026. Increasingly worried households are likely to increase precautionary savings, dampening consumer demand.
- 3. Reflation risks make central banks cautious. Inflationary pressures, particularly in the US, are resurfacing, with headline inflation expected to peak at 4.3% by summer, driven by tariffs. Consequently, the Federal Reserve is expected to adopt a cautious approach, holding rates in place until October and then cutting them to 4% by end-2025 and 2.75% by mid-2026. Persistent stagflationary risks will reinforce the Fed's focus on combating inflation above promoting growth. Europe's continued disinflation contrasts sharply, suggesting divergent monetary policy responses between the two regions. The ECB is likely to bring rates down to 1.5%, -50bps more than expected.

4. Emerging markets are dealing with the (tariff) stick and gaining from the (diversification) carrot. Emerging markets are responding strategically by adjusting tariffs on American goods and diversifying imports. Israel, Vietnam, India and Thailand, to name a few, have opted for (resp.) cutting tariffs, seeking a trade agreement or increasing imports. Overall, countries which have the highest export dependency on the US and that are subject to the highest tariff hikes are likely to negotiate first, by committing to buy more US products, lowering import tariffs to close to 0 and increasing investments in the US when possible. Many nations in Asia (e.g. Cambodia, Vietnam, Taiwan and Thailand and South Korea) and a few in Latin America (e.g. Mexico, Colombia) are likely to do so. Like a fog of war, it is unclear what the final tariff landscape will look like, but the cost of uncertainty is high as tariff arbitrage is now off the table for most companies – until the dust settles. China has taken a harsher tone, announcing retaliation of +84pps tariffs on all US imports, effective on 10 April, and potentially more to come. China demonstrated signs of economic recovery in Q1 and is proactively promoting consumption-focused reforms. Fiscal stimulus and monetary easing are expected to support GDP growth to reach +4.5% in 2025 and +4.2% in 2026, despite lingering downside risks.
5. Companies are adopting short-term strategies such as frontloading imports, diversifying supply chains and adjusting prices to mitigate tariff impacts, while policy uncertainty hampers investments, especially outside the US. US companies are expected to manage over the next few months with solid balance sheets and stockpiling covering six months of demand (especially retailers and consumer electronics). However, two-thirds may pass tariff costs to consumers, varying by sector. Meanwhile, production is shifting from China to Southeast Asia, Mexico and even the US to avoid tariffs. Companies have announced nearly USD1trn in investments in the US despite higher labor costs, which could affect profitability. Strong brands like luxury and tech can absorb costs without losing market share, while low-margin sectors like retail have fewer options. Overall, global uncertainty will suppress capital expenditures, particularly in Europe. Negotiating price cuts and selectively lowering selling prices are additional tactics. Global insolvencies are projected to rise by +7% in 2025 due to the slump in global demand and geopolitical issues, with the US seeing an +16% increase and Western Europe a +5% rise.

INDIAN ECONOMIC OVERVIEW

India's economic journey over the past few years has been marked by remarkable growth and a steady rise in its position on the global stage. After overtaking the United Kingdom (UK) to become the fifth largest economy in Q1 FY23, India has continued this upward trajectory to surpass Japan in June 2025 to become the fourth largest economy in the world. With a nominal Gross Domestic Product (GDP) of Rs. 3,31,03,000 crore (US$ 3.78 trillion), India's growth reflects a combination of strong domestic demand and policy reforms positioning the country as a key destination for global capital.

Further, India is projected to reach a GDP of Rs. 4,26,45,000 crore (US$ 5 trillion) by 2027 and is on course to surpass Germany by 2028. Rising employment and increasing private consumption, supported by rising consumer sentiment, will support GDP growth in the coming months.

MARKET SIZE

India's economy shows robust expansion, with real GDP for FY25 estimated at Rs. 1,87,97,000 crore (US$ 2.20 trillion), from Rs. 1,76,51,000 crore (US$ 2.06 trillion) in FY24 with a growth rate of 6.5%. This growth is driven by rising employment and stronger private consumption, supported by improving consumer sentiment, which is expected to keep the momentum going in the near future.

Trade remains a critical pillar of India's growth story with exports reaching Rs. 37,31,000 crore (US$ 436.6 billion) in FY25, led by Engineering Goods (26.88%), Petroleum Products (13.86%) and Electronic Goods (8.89%). These exports helped the economy stay resilient during the pandemic when other sectors slowed. Union Minister of Commerce and Industry, Mr. Piyush Goyal projects exports to reach Rs. 85,44,000 crore (US$ 1 trillion) by 2030.

India's ability to attract Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) has also strengthened. The country received record FDI inflows amounting to Rs. 4,21,929 crore (US$ 49.3 billion) in FY25 a 15% increase over FY24, supported by a stable policy environment, a large domestic market and steady economic growth positioning the country as a key destination for global capital. This capital inflow also complements government plans for increased investment in infrastructure and asset-building projects to further boost economic growth.

India's external economic position is improving. The current account deficit narrowed to Rs. 1,98,726 crore (US$ 23.30 billion), or 0.6% of GDP, in FY25 from Rs. 2,21,754 crore (US$ 26.00 billion), or 0.7% of GDP, in FY24. This improvement was due to higher net receipts from services and secondary income, according to the Reserve Bank of India (RBI).

GOVERNMENT INITIATIVES

Over the years, the Indian government has introduced many initiatives to strengthen the nation's economy. The Indian government has been effective in developing policies and programmes that are not only beneficial for citizens to improve their financial stability but also for the overall growth of the economy. Over recent decades, India's rapid economic growth has led to a substantial increase in its demand for exports. Besides this, several of the government's flagship programmes, including Make in India, Start-up India, Digital India, the Smart City Mission, and the Atal Mission for Rejuvenation and Urban Transformation, is aimed at creating immense opportunities in India. In this regard, some of the initiatives taken by the government to improve the economic condition of the country are mentioned below:

- On July 5, 2025, the Union Cabinet approved the Rs. 1,00,000 crore (US$ 11.72 billion) Research, Development and Innovation (RDI) Scheme, launching long term, low or zero interest funding via a special purpose fund under the ANRF to jump start India's R&D ecosystem and support deep tech and startup innovation.
- On March 27, 2025, the Reserve Bank of India proposed doubling the investment cap for individual foreign investors in listed firms from 5% to 10%, with a combined foreign individual limit increasing to 24%, to counter Foreign Portfolio Investment (FPI) outflows.
- On March 27, 2025, the Reserve Bank of India proposed doubling the investment cap for individual foreign investors in listed firms from 5% to 10%, with a combined foreign individual limit increasing to 24%, to counter Foreign Portfolio Investment (FPI) outflows.

ROAD AHEAD

India's economy grew by 6.5% in FY25. With a 7.4% growth rate in Q4 FY25, with RBI projecting a growth rate of 6.5% in FY26 as well. India's comparatively strong position in the external sector reflects the country's positive outlook for economic growth and rising employment rates. In 2024, India rose to 15th place globally in FDI rankings and retained its position as South Asia's top recipient.

In H1 FY25, India's growth-focused approach was underscored by the government's capital expenditure outlay of Rs. 15,02,000 crore (US$ 176 billion), reinforcing its commitment to infrastructure-led development.

In the Union Budget of FY26, capital expenditure took lead by steeply increasing the capital expenditure outlay by 10% to Rs. 11,21,000 crore (US$ 131 billion) over Rs. 10,18,000 crore (US$ 119 billion) in FY25. Stronger revenue generation because of improved tax compliance, increased profitability of the company, and increasing economic activity also contributed to rising capital spending levels.

India's total goods and service exports surged by 76% over the past decade, touching Rs. 70,36,425 crore (US$ 825 billion) in FY25, driven by strong performance in engineering goods, electronics, and pharmaceuticals. With a reduction in port congestion, supply networks are being restored.

With a proactive set of administrative actions by the government, flexible monetary policy, and a softening of global commodity prices and supply-chain bottlenecks, inflationary pressures in India look to be on the decline overall.

IMPACT OF INTERNATIONAL TRADE POLICIES AND TARIFFS

Effective August 27, 2025, the Trump administration imposed an additional ad valorem (meaning based on the value of product) 25% tariff on Indian goods, citing India's purchase of Russian oil. This measure, combined with existing tariffs, has created a cumulative US tariff burden of 50% on most affected Indian exports, altering the landscape of foreign trade between the nations.

The decision represents more than an economic policy dynamic; it signals an era of geoeconomic friction that is compelling India to reassess its trade strategies and accelerate domestic reform initiatives. While the impact appears severe, this external pressure is catalyzing India's vision of Aatmanirbhar Bharat and economic self-reliance.

Understanding the tariff structure

The current tariff regime consists of a structure that has escalated duties to levels of 50%. The 25% additional tariff supplements a pre-existing 25% "reciprocal" tariff implemented in August 2025, creating a total burden of 50% on most Indian exports to the United States.

These measures apply across sectors, though certain industries including pharmaceuticals, electronics, and petroleum products have received exemptions. The tariffs target India's labor-intensive export sectors, which form the backbone of regional economies and employ millions of workers across the country.

Economic Implication for India

India's export sectors face significant challenges as new U.S. tariffs will impact 66% of the country's total exports to the US valued at $86.5 billion. A flagship report from the Global Trade Research Initiative \(GTRI\) shows that this includes $60.2 billion worth of goods that will be subject to the additional tariffs starting August 27.

This is expected to cause an overall drop in merchandise exports to the US by 40-45% in fiscal year 2025-26, with severely affected sectors potentially experiencing volume collapses of up to 70%. According to Global Trade Research Initiative (GTRI) analysis, the sectors to be majorly impacted are textiles and apparel Industry, Gems and jewellery, marine products and aquaculture, agriculture, organic chemicals among others.

Micro, Small, and Medium Enterprises (MSMEs), which account for roughly 45% of India's total exports and dominate affected labor-intensive sectors with a 70% share, face disproportionate impact. These enterprises operate on thin margins and lack the financial flexibility to absorb increased costs, making them particularly vulnerable to the US tariff shock.

The broader economic impact could result in a reduction of 0.9 percentage points from India's nominal GDP growth, representing a potential economic contraction of $7-25 billion. However, these short-term challenges must be viewed against India's robust domestic fundamentals, with over 60% of GDP driven by internal consumption.

Conclusion

The implementation of the US tariff on India marks a defining moment in bilateral trade relations, presenting short-term challenges particularly for labor-intensive sectors and MSMEs. However, in the long-term, this external pressure is catalyzing India's transformation towards greater self-reliance and economic resilience.

The government's measured response, focusing on domestic reform acceleration rather than retaliation, reflects a mature approach to economic statecraft. The renewed emphasis on Aatmanirbhar Bharat, the swadeshi movement, and Make in India initiatives demonstrates how external challenges can become catalysts for internal strengthening.

While the tariffs represent a setback to US-India trade relations, the transformation of this crisis into an opportunity for structural reform exemplifies India's capacity for adaptive resilience in an increasingly complex global economic environment.

INDIAN ECONOMIC OUTLOOK

Previous years' GDP figures were significantly revised upward, underscoring the inherent strength in India's domestic demand, the nation's biggest growth driver. Particularly, the growth rate for fiscal 2023 to 2024 was revised upward by 1 percentage point, and it is now pegged at an impressive 9.2%—the highest in 12 years (excluding the post-pandemic rebound; figure 1).

Besides, the apparent “slowdown” in fiscal 2024 to 2025 has partly been a consequence of election-driven uncertainty (with both India and the United States going to the polls), disruptions driven by more-than-anticipated rainfall till the third quarter, and volatility in global trade networks in the last two quarters. Not to mention, the growth over the year is being compared against a significantly elevated economic base driven by revised figures for the past year.

Deloitte's forecast for India has been optimistic, compared to market consensus, and GDP data revisions in the past years reinforce confidence in the Indian economy's inherent strength, which has surpassed optimistic Deloitte projections in the past. This optimism is carried forward, as we see a good jump in high-frequency indicators such as goods and services tax, auto sales, and sales of fast-moving consumer goods in recent months. Deloitte forecasts annual growth of 6.3% to 6.5% in fiscal 2024 to 2025.

Two opposing forces are set to define India's economic trajectory in fiscal 2025 to 2026:

- The potential positive impact of tax incentives: The Union Budget's tax stimulus could raise GDP at least by 0.6% to 0.7% this fiscal. Besides, lower inflation, range-bound global oil prices, lower borrowing rates, and more liquidity (due to the easier monetary policy), and a more certain global environment by the end of the year will help boost sentiment. All of these factors will considerably push domestic consumer spending and investments forward.

- The potential negative impact of uncertainty in global trade networks: At the time of writing, India faces an ad valorem baseline tariff rate of 10% on its goods exports to the United States. Since this rate is applicable over and above the 2023 trade-weighted average most-favored nation (MFN) tariff rate of 2.2%, the effective trade-weighted average MFN tariff rate stands at 12.2%. The remaining potential differential tariff rate imposed on India, of 16% (for a total reciprocal tariff rate of 26%, which varies across countries and is currently paused for three months), could take the effective trade-weighted average MFN tariff rate to 28.2% on India's exports to the United States by the end of the fiscal year. This may potentially shave 0.1% to 0.3% off India's growth.

Considering the net impact of these two factors on growth (discussed at length in this edition), Deloitte remains cautiously optimistic about growth in the current fiscal (with likely growth between 6.3% and 6.5%), and forecasts growth between 6.5% and 6.7% in the next (2025 to 2026).

WHAT LIES AHEAD: Effect of Tariffs on Economic Fundamentals

In our baseline optimistic projections for this quarter, we factored in both the possible boost to consumer spending due to tax cuts and the adverse impact of global trade on India's goods trade balance (as discussed in previous sections).

The tax exemptions announced in the budget will increase consumer spending and may boost GDP by 0.6% to 0.7%. However, uncertainty around the tariff rates imposed by the United States on Indian exports could offset those gains by 0.1% to 0.3%. Deloitte's outlook remains optimistic, but cautious.

Under the baseline scenario, Deloitte predicts growth in the range of 6.3% to 6.5% in fiscal year 2024 to 2025 and between 6.5% and 6.7% in the current fiscal (figure 9).

Deloitte remains confident that trade uncertainties may settle as India and the United States reach a bilateral trade agreement by fall this year. This would lead to better visibility into global trade for the rest of the year and improve India's net exports. This, together with India's strong consumer spending levels and possibly lower inflation, may encourage investors to move on with investment decisions.

The global pulp and paper industry holds its significance by being the foremost industry relying on forests. The major raw materials, such as wood, along with alternative materials, including wheat straw, bamboo, and rice husk, are utilized for the manufacturing of paper. The growing adoption of paper as a paper packaging material, wrapping paper, printing paper, writing paper, rolls, tissue paper, and specialty papers is expected to boost the market growth. The pulp and paper manufacturing and supply industry is labor-intensive and plays a vital role in socio-economic development. Moreover, the government's growing initiative for sustainable environmental development is expected to fuel the market growth of pulp and paper.

Pulp and paper market trends

Rapid Penetration of Online Retail in Emerging Economies to Fuel Demand for Paper Packaging

Growing penetration of smartphones, along with the internet, has surged online retailing in emerging economies, such as India, China, Southeast Asian countries, Brazil, and others. Nowadays, many consumers prefer to buy online food, groceries, cosmetics, and many other goods due to their busy lifestyles and hectic schedules. Such factors lead to a surge in the adoption of packaging materials for the transportation of these goods, along with safety and security. Furthermore, the rising need for eco-friendly solutions in retail packaging to avoid the adverse effects of waste plastic packaging, coupled with growing government regulations in packaging to come up with sustainable solutions, is further boosting the adoption of paper packaging. The demand is mainly attributed to the ideal characteristics of paper & pulp packaging, such as being convenient for logistics, lightweight, environment-friendly, cost-effective, and biodegradable. Hence, the growing expansion of online channels, along with supportive regulations, is expected to augment the adoption of paper bags and corrugated boxes and fuel the market growth rates during the projected timeframe. Asia Pacific witnessed a pulp and paper market growth from USD 190.48 billion in 2023 to USD 193.97 billion in 2024.

Market Drivers

Increasing Paper Recycling Activities by Companies to Foster Product Adoption

Paper recycling is a well-established and capital-intensive industry. Companies involved in the recycling of other materials find paper recycling to be a helpful addition to their services. It supports entrepreneurs in services, including collection, sorting, and transportation.

As per the American Forest & Paper Association, 67.9% of recycled paper was consumed in the U.S. in 2022, maintaining a steady recycling rate compared to 2021. The paper recycling requirements differ by state in this country. The U.S. states, including Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Rhode Island, New Jersey, and the District of Columbia, have made rules that all paper grades must be recycled. In California, businesses must recycle newspapers, and in Connecticut, all trash generators need to recycle white and colored office paper, newspapers, and periodicals. South Dakota, Maine, and Virginia have also made specific obligatory paper recycling laws. The adoption of supportive laws for paper recycling is projected to increase recycling activities and further boost the pulp and paper market growth.

Segmentation Analysis

Wrapping & Packaging Segment to Hold Largest Market Share Owing to Increasing Adoption of Paper Packaging

Based on category, the market is segmented into wrapping & packaging (food & beverage packaging, healthcare packaging, and personal care packaging, and others), printing & writing (books and publishing, news print, and others), sanitary, and others.

Owing to the increased adoption of paper-based packaging materials, the wrapping & packaging segment is expected to hold a dominant pulp and paper market share during the forecast period. Rapid penetration of the global e-commerce and retail sector has created a huge demand for both wrapping & packaging paper. For instance, the adoption of paper bags has emerged as a cheap and potential substitute for plastic bags. Also, with rising environmental awareness, both consumers and manufacturers in developing economies are adopting paper packaging products. The segment held 54.6% of the market share in 2024.

The sanitary segment is projected to register healthy growth during the forecast period, backed by rising disposable income and awareness of personal hygiene in emerging economies.

Printing & writing segment declining in developed countries due to increasing emphasis on digitization and digital marketing. The printing & writing segment is expected to hold a 26.2% share in 2024.

PAPER PRODUCT MARKET GLOBALLY

The global paper products market size was valued at USD 270.23 billion in 2024 and is projected to reach USD 281.23 billion by 2030, growing at a CAGR of 0.7% from 2025 to 2030. The growth is attributed to increasing demand for sustainable and eco-friendly products. Increasing environmental consciousness among consumers is driving the demand for paper products that are biodegradable and made from recycled materials, prompting manufacturers to innovate and alter their offerings accordingly.

Ongoing digital transformation across various industries has slowed the demand for paper products across various industries. As businesses and consumers increasingly rely on digital communication, the demand for traditional paper products, such as printing and writing papers, has diminished. For instance, many companies opt for digital invoices and contracts, reducing the need for physical paper. This shift has led manufacturers to focus on packaging solutions and specialty papers catering to specific needs.

GLOBAL PAPER PACKAGING MARKET

The global paper packaging market is projected to grow from USD 41.5 billion in 2025 to USD 62.1 billion by 2035, registering a CAGR of 4.1% over the forecast period. Sales in 2024 were recorded at USD 39.8 billion.

This growth is primarily attributed to the increasing demand for sustainable and eco-friendly packaging solutions across various industries, including food and beverage, healthcare, personal care, and e-commerce. Paper packaging offers advantages such as recyclability, biodegradability, and cost-effectiveness, making it a preferred choice for manufacturers aiming for environmentally responsible packaging.

The expansion is being driven by a widespread shift toward sustainable, biodegradable, and recyclable packaging solutions, particularly across the food & beverage, pharmaceutical, personal care, and e-commerce sectors. Paper-based materials are increasingly preferred due to their high tensile strength, lightweight nature, and environmental advantages over single-use plastic packaging.

In markets with stringent regulations on plastic consumption, such as the European Union, Canada, and parts of Asia, paper packaging is being adopted not just as a regulatory necessity but as a competitive brand differentiator.

Governmental initiatives encouraging circular economy practices and extended producer responsibility (EPR) frameworks are reinforcing the demand. According to a 2024 report by the World Packaging Organization (WPO), more than 70 countries had introduced regulatory roadmaps targeting single-use plastics, indirectly supporting the growth of the paper packaging sector.

Market Analysis by Material Type

Corrugated board is expected to hold the largest share of 33.8% in the paper packaging market in 2025, as its use has been supported by structural rigidity, cushioning ability, and adaptability across packaging formats. Single-wall and double-wall variants have been applied for shipping cartons, shelf-ready packaging, and protective outer wraps.

Resistance to compression, stacking damage, and vibration has been optimized through flute design and box geometry. Printing compatibility and consistent performance in varied load conditions have reinforced its usage in industrial and retail logistics.

Die-cut corrugated formats have been engineered for high-speed packing lines and standardized transport modules. Custom configurations for partitioning, cushioning, and bulk handling have enabled widespread deployment across manufacturing hubs. Demand has been driven by packaging efficiency and versatility across product categories. Continued preference has been maintained for corrugated board due to its reliability in large-volume applications.

Market Analysis by End Use

The food packaging segment is projected to account for 36.4% of the paper packaging market share in 2025, as its dominance has been driven by high-frequency production, perishability, and compliance with handling standards. Boxes, wraps, and cartons have been used extensively to package frozen meals, baked goods, dry snacks, and quick-serve products.

Paper-based containers and liners have been selected for direct food contact and transit readiness. High-speed filling and sealing systems have been supported through compatibility with paperboard-based configurations.

Moisture-resistant coatings and grease barriers have been applied where required to maintain packaging integrity. Shelf-ready features and standardized sizing have been implemented to meet modern merchandising requirements. Branding and labeling zones have been incorporated into box designs for improved market visibility. Steady demand from QSR chains, retail grocers, and frozen food manufacturers has preserved the segment's leadership.

INDIAN PAPER & PAPER PULP PRODUCT MARKET

The India Pulp and Paper Market size was valued at USD 4693.85 Million in 2024 and the India Pulp and Paper Market size is expected to grow at a CAGR of 13.4% from 2025 to 2032, reaching nearly USD 11319.33 Million by 2032. The Indian paper & pulp market leads globally with rising demand for packaging, writing, printing, and specialty papers. Emphasizing recycling, it champions sustainability, conserving resources and minimizing environmental impact through renewable practices.

Paper and pulp are two interconnected products and processes within the paper industry. Pulp refers to a fibrous material obtained from wood or other plant-based sources through a process called pulping. Paper is a thin material made from pulp, primarily composed of cellulose fibers. The Indian paper & pulp market is the fastest-growing in the world. The demand for paper products, including packaging, writing and printing paper, and specialty paper, has been steadily increasing. The Indian paper industry has been actively promoting recycling initiatives. The use of recycled paper helps in conserving natural resources and reducing environmental impact. The Indian paper industry is known for its sustainable practices and the use of renewable resources.

Indian Paper & Pulp Market is experiencing remarkable growth, with a notable surge in global demand. The upward trajectory is attributed to the steadily increasing domestic demand, fueled by factors such as the expanding manufacturing sector, the need for higher quality packaging in organized retail for FMCG products, and the rising demand for various paper products like tissue paper, filter paper, tea bags, lightweight online coated paper, and medical-grade coated paper.

Indian Paper & Pulp Market Dynamics

Growing Packaging Industry to Boost Indian Paper & Pulp Market Growth

The packaging industry in India is growing rapidly due to increased consumerism, e-commerce growth, and organized retail. Packaging paper is a vital component for various packaging solutions, contributing to the demand for paper products. Rising literacy rates and educational activities contribute to the demand for printing and writing paper. The education sector's growth drives the need for textbooks, notebooks, and other educational materials, which significantly boosts the Indian Paper & Pulp Market growth. Investments by key players in expanding production capacities and modernizing facilities contribute to meeting the growing demand for paper and pulp products. India is the 15th largest paper producer in the world. India has emerged as the fastest-growing market when it comes to consumption, posting 10.6% growth in per capita consumption of paper in 2025-2032. The domestic market/consumption of paper is over 16 million tons per annum (TPA), with over 2 million TPA being imported. By 2025-26, under the baseline scenario, domestic consumption is expected to rise to 23.50 million TPA. While the Indian Paper & Pulp industry has made significant capital investments to ramp up capacities, the development period is long and the economic viability of the investments is impacted significantly by the availability and cost of raw materials and other inputs, and escalating imports. The paper industry in India looks extremely positive as the demand for upstream markets of paper products, like, tissue paper, tea bags, filter paper, lightweight online coated paper, medical grade coated paper, etc., is growing up.

Environmental Concerns and Deforestation to restrain Indian Paper & Pulp Market growth

Environmental issues, including deforestation, pose challenges to the paper industry's sustainability. Concerns about the impact on biodiversity and ecosystems lead to regulatory constraints and public opposition. Paper and pulp manufacturing, especially the production of specialty papers and environmentally friendly options like recycled paper, is costly. Higher production costs impact the competitiveness of paper products, especially in the price-sensitive Indian Paper & Pulp market. The Indian Pulp & Paper Industry has agroforestry roots and strong backward linkages with the farming community, from whom wood is sourced, which is a key raw material. Raw material expense is 45 to 50% of the revenue. Imports account for over 20% of the paper consumption in India. Domestic paper manufacturers are less competitive against imports, given the superior quality and lower prices of imported paper. As per IPMA, paper from ASEAN countries that is manufactured from raw wood is available at about USD 40 per tonne, as against USD 110 per tonne in India. Rising imports at predatory prices from surplus countries like China have been a major concern for local players in India, which limits the Indian Paper & Pulp Market growth.

PAPER & PAPER PRODUCT MARKET IN INDIA

The India Paper & Paper Products Market was valued at USD 9.25 Billion in 2024, and is expected to reach USD 11.91 Billion by 2030, rising at a CAGR of 4.37%. India's paper and paper products market has witnessed remarkable growth in recent years, driven by several key factors that have reshaped the industry landscape. A confluence of rising literacy rates, increasing consumerism, and advancements in manufacturing technologies has propelled the sector forward, fostering a conducive environment for expansion and innovation.

One notable aspect contributing to the growth of the Indian paper market is the geographical concentration of paper mills in specific regions across the country. Regions such as Andhra Pradesh, Tamil Nadu, Maharashtra, Punjab, Madhya Pradesh, West Bengal, and Gujarat have emerged as hubs for paper production, offering favorable conditions for industry development. These regions boast abundant availability of raw materials, a skilled labor force, and supportive government policies that incentivize and facilitate the growth of the paper industry.

The increasing demand for paper products across various sectors further underscores the market's growth potential. The education sector, for instance, drives substantial demand for notebooks, textbooks, and other educational materials, fueled by the country's expanding literacy rates and emphasis on education accessibility. The packaging industry relies heavily on paper-based solutions for packaging materials, driven by the growth of e-commerce and consumer goods sectors. The printing industry continues to create demand for paper products, particularly in publishing, advertising, and commercial printing applications.

Technological advancements have played a pivotal role in shaping the trajectory of the Indian paper industry. Innovations in manufacturing technologies have enhanced efficiency and cost-effectiveness, allowing manufacturers to optimize production processes and meet growing demand more efficiently. These advancements have also facilitated the development of innovative paper products with improved quality, functionality, and sustainability, aligning with evolving consumer preferences and industry trends. The rising awareness of environmental sustainability has emerged as a significant driver for the demand for sustainable paper solutions in India.

As consumers and businesses increasingly prioritize eco-friendly practices, there is a growing demand for recycled paper products and sustainable packaging materials. This shift towards sustainability presents opportunities for manufacturers to innovate and develop environmentally friendly paper products, contributing to both environmental conservation and market growth. Apart from these, the Indian paper and paper products market is poised for continued expansion and evolution. The favorable market conditions, coupled with increasing demand and technological advancements, create a conducive environment for growth and investment. Domestic and international players in the paper industry stand to benefit from tapping into India's promising market potential, leveraging opportunities for expansion, and contributing to the continued development of the Indian paper industry.

PAPER PACKAGING MARKET OVERVIEW IN INDIA

The India Paper Packaging Market size is estimated at USD 19.07 billion in 2025, and is expected to reach USD 46.43 billion by 2030, at a CAGR of 19.48% during the forecast period (2025-2030).

Key Highlights

- India, known for its diversity and innovation, is rapidly revolving toward sustainable packaging solutions, with a significant focus on paper-based packaging. This shift comes as global green practices around eco-friendliness intensify. As the world embraces green practices, businesses across the country are leading the way in adopting effective paper packaging solutions that are not only eco-friendly but also practical and cost-effective, supporting market growth.
- The paper packaging business experienced growth over the past years due to changes in substrate choice, new market expansion, ownership dynamics, and government initiatives to ban the usage of certain plastic packaging products. As sustainability and environmental issues are continuously being emphasized by businesses and customers, various innovations catering to paper packaging are expected to drive market growth in India.
- Furthermore, an increasing number of people in India are supporting the replacement of plastic bags with paper bags as a result of growing awareness of the ban on single-use plastic bags, which is further projected to propel market growth. For instance, according to a survey by Inshorts on World Paper Bag Day in 2023, 80% of respondents in India expressed their desire for plastic bags to be completely replaced by paper bags in all stores.
- With a considerable increase in organized retail in India, the demand for paper packaging is expected to increase in supermarkets and modern shopping centers. The Central Pollution Control Board (CPCB), a federal agency under the Ministry of the Environment, released a list of steps to be taken to outlaw specific single-use plastic products. Such measures are propelling the demand for paper packaging products.
- Additionally, the e-commerce sector's rapid expansion is another major driver of the Indian paper packaging market. With a growing number of online shoppers, the demand for secure and lightweight paper packaging has surged. The paper's cost-effectiveness and adaptability for various products further fuel this trend. For instance, major e-commerce players like Amazon India are working on a plan to eliminate plastic packaging with the use of recyclable paper packaging in India. However, the increasing prices of kraft paper, a key raw material, is resulting in increased prices of paper packaging, challenging market growth.

India Paper Packaging Market Trends

Corrugated Boxes to Dominate the Market

- The expanding e-commerce sector primarily drives the Indian market for corrugated boxes. In addition, the widespread use of fast-moving consumer goods (FMCG), such as household goods, beverages, medications, and toiletries, further accelerates market expansion. In addition, the leading manufacturers have designed corrugated boxes in various sizes and shapes in response to consumers' growing preference for lightweight and innovative packaging materials.
- Further, the growing sales of the retail industry are creating a demand for corrugated boxes to transport and store goods in a cost-effective and durable way. The diverse range of products sold in retail stores necessitates various sizes and shapes, which corrugated boxes readily provide. For instance, according to the Retailers Association of India, in June 2023, the retail trade industry in India registered its highest sales growth of 15% in the footwear and food categories. In contrast, apparel and clothing registered a 7% sales growth during the same period.
- The government launched the production-linked incentive (PLI) scheme to incentivize businesses in 10 industries to boost domestic manufacturing and exports to control the disruption in the supply chain scenario. Atmanirbhar and structural changes are other factors expected to increase the demand for corrugated box packaging.
- Direct-to-consumer (D2C) brands in food, cosmetics, fashion, and consumer electronics have also contributed to this rise in demand. By using a D2C approach and interfacing clearly with the expanding number of digital shoppers, these new-age digital-first brands are now challenging established brands. Such instances are expected to drive market growth in India.

Food Industry Holds Major Market Share

- Paper and paperboard stand out as prevalent solutions in the realm of food packaging, owing to their eco-friendly nature, which not only aligns with current sustainability trends but also positions them as key solutions for food packaging. The paper finds extensive use in direct food contact as well as in the transportation and storage of primary packages. Moreover, it plays a pivotal role in crafting items like microwave popcorn bags, baking paper, and even fast-food containers. These factors collectively highlight the anticipated growth of the paper packaging sector in India. India's market growth in paper packaging is anticipated to be driven by high consumer awareness of packaged food and exceptionally packaged food delivery.
- With consumers increasingly embracing on-the-go lifestyles, the demand for convenient, easy-to-handle foods is surging. In response, brands are innovating, making food packaging more portable. Paper packaging has emerged as a preferred among packaging manufacturers due to its lightweight nature. Notably, the Indian food packaging landscape has witnessed a considerable shift towards eco-friendliness. Major players are pivoting away from single-use plastics, opting instead for biodegradable, recyclable, or reusable alternatives, aligning with their eco-friendly solutions.
- In addition, the growing number of quick service restaurants is further augmenting paper packaging market growth in India, creating demand for food bags, folding cartons, and corrugated fibreboard and boxes to offer convenient and perceived hygienic solutions for serving and transporting QSR food items. For instance, according to Restaurant Brands International, the number of Burger King outlets in India increased from 315 in FY 2022 to 391 in FY 2023.
- The robust export activities of the country also created a need for storing processed items of foods such as fruits and several others. For instance, according to the Directorate General of Commercial Intelligence and Statistics (DGCI&S) and Agricultural & Processed Food Products Export Development Authority (APEDA), the value of fresh fruit exports from India reached nearly USD 863.7 million in FY 2023, increasing from USD 876.4 million in FY 2022. This growth in the export of food products is expected to drive demand for corrugated boxes.

2. Strategically located on the highway linking Kolkata to Chennai: Our company's manufacturing facility is situated along the highway that connects Kolkata to Chennai, a location that offers logistical convenience for transportation and distribution. Being positioned on this major route allows for easier movement of raw materials to the production site and facilitates the timely dispatch of finished goods to various regions. This location has supported the company's ability to manage supply chain operations with efficiency, reducing transit times and helping maintain a consistent flow of goods. The accessibility of the site to key transport networks has also enabled smoother coordination with suppliers and distributors operating in different parts of the country. Over time, this positioning has contributed to the company's operational effectiveness by providing practical advantages in terms of connectivity, access to regional markets, and ease of distribution, all of which are important for sustaining day-to-day business activities in the manufacturing sector. We also have cheaper outward freight from Odisha to most places in the country as Odisha is a net importer of material from other states and vehicles coming in have to go back empty.

3. Fully integrated end-to-end manufacturing unit for seamless production processes: Our company engages in a multi-stage manufacturing process for its paper-based products and packaging materials, utilizing a variety of machinery and operational expertise. This end-to-end manufacturing setup includes key stages such as material preparation, coating, printing, slitting, die punching, forming, quality control, and packaging all of which are managed in-house. By overseeing the entire production process internally, the company minimizes reliance on third-party suppliers, which contributes to maintaining consistent product standards and managing delivery schedules effectively. This also supports cost control by allowing for bulk procurement of raw materials and reducing logistical inefficiencies. The in-house management of all production stages enables the company to adapt to changing order sizes and specifications without significant disruption, helping to meet diverse customer needs. The ability to carry out all operations under one roof has also allowed the company to implement consistent checks across the production line, which contributes to reducing material waste and maintaining product consistency. With a built-up Reinforced Cement Concrete (RCC) infrastructure spanning 84,000 sq. ft., the company is able to utilize its space efficiently to support its full-cycle manufacturing operations. This setup supports day-to-day operational stability and provides a foundation for maintaining product quality and managing resources effectively.

4. Freight costs are lower as suppliers are mainly from the South: Our company benefits from a combination of strategic sourcing and advantageous geographic positioning, which contributes to efficient freight management. A significant portion of the raw materials, particularly paper, is procured from suppliers located in the southern region of India, where many major paper manufacturing companies are based. Since the company itself is situated on a highway that connects key routes between the South and other parts of the country, this proximity allows for more direct and cost-effective transportation of raw materials. In contrast, many other manufacturers in the same industry operate from regions like Kolkata, where transporting paper from southern suppliers involves longer distances and higher freight costs. For the company, the freight cost for bringing in paper from the South is approximately Rs. 1.60 per kilogram, or Rs. 1,600 per metric ton, which is comparatively economical. Furthermore, our company's location supports efficient outbound logistics as well, with easier access to regional and interstate transport networks. This dual advantage reduced costs for inbound raw materials and competitive rates for outward distribution has contributed to more stable logistics and lower overall transportation expenses whereas outbound logistics is also cheaper from here. These factors support our company's operations by helping manage input costs effectively, maintain steady supply chain operations, and ensure smoother movement of goods across different markets in the paper-based products and packaging materials sector.

OUR BUSINESS PROCESS

- 1. Receipt of an enquiry or an order from the customer- The business process typically begins with the receipt of an enquiry or an order from a customer. This initial stage is critical, as it sets the tone for the entire transaction and production workflow. Upon receiving the enquiry either via email, website enquiry, phone, or through sales representatives the sales or customer service team reviews the customer's requirements, which may include specific product types, quantities, customization needs (such as branding or packaging), delivery timelines, and any regulatory or eco-friendly compliance specifications. The team may follow up with the customer to clarify details, provide product catalogs or samples, and generate a formal quotation. This stage ensures all customer specifications are clearly understood and documented, laying the foundation for efficient production and on-time delivery.

In case of an enquiry, the sales or customer service person prepare an offer that includes product details, pricing, and terms and conditions. This offer is shared with the customer, and any necessary clarifications or adjustments are made based on customer feedback. The process continues until the enquiry is converted into a confirmed order. In case of a direct order, the team checks the availability of stock and prepares a Sales Order (SO), which is then sent to the customer for validation. The SO includes the agreed prices and estimated dispatch timelines. Once the customer validates the SO, the process moves forward to production planning or order fulfilment based on stock status.

- 2. Acceptance of Sales Order (SO) by customer - Advance or Credit as per Payment Terms: The next step involves the acceptance of the Sales Order (SO) by the customer. Once the SO, which includes item details, quantities, prices, and dispatch timelines, is reviewed by the customer, confirmation is required to proceed. Depending on the agreed payment terms, the customer is expected to either make an advance payment or operate on a credit basis. The finance or accounts team monitors the receipt of the payment or approval of credit before initiating the next stages of production or dispatch. This step ensures alignment between both parties on order details and financial terms before resources are committed.

3. Make to Order Products - Plan production has per requirements: In the case of make-to-order products, once the Sales Order is accepted and payment terms are settled, the next step involves planning production according to the specific requirements outlined in the order. The production planning team reviews the details such as product type, dimensions, quantity, customization needs, and delivery timelines. Based on this information, a production schedule is prepared, and necessary raw materials are allocated or procured if not already in stock. The planning also considers current production capacity, lead times, and coordination with other departments to ensure efficient workflow. This step ensures that the products are manufactured as per the customer's specifications and within the agreed timeframe.
4. Make to Stock Products - Dispatch Goods on SO stage confirmation: The logistics or warehouse team checks the availability of the required items in the finished goods inventory against the SO. Upon confirmation that the products are in stock and meet the order specifications, the dispatch is scheduled. The goods are then packed, labeled, and prepared for shipment in accordance with the agreed delivery terms. Relevant documents such as invoices, delivery challans, and transport details are generated and shared with the customer as part of the dispatch process.
5. Follow-up on Receipt of Goods for Accuracy and SO closure: A follow-up is conducted after the dispatch to confirm receipt of goods by the customer which involves checking whether the delivery was completed in terms of quantity, product specifications, and condition of goods. The sales or customer service team may contact the customer to confirm these details and address any discrepancies or issues, if reported. Once the customer acknowledges receipt and confirms that the order has been fulfilled as agreed, the SO is marked as closed in the system. This closure helps in maintaining accurate records and enables internal teams to proceed with billing completion, inventory updates, and post-sales support if required.
6. Receipt of payment: The receipt of payment is a key step following the dispatch and confirmation of goods delivery. Based on the agreed payment terms, whether advance, part-payment, or credit, the accounts team monitors the transaction and records the payment once it is received from the customer. This may include bank transfers, online payments, or other agreed modes. The payment is then reconciled with the corresponding order and invoice. Once verified, the transaction is updated in the accounts, and any balance amount, if applicable, is tracked for further follow-up. This step ensures financial closure of the order and supports accurate accounting and reporting.

MANUFACTURING FLOWCHART OF PRODUCTS (Paper plates, cups, bowls and glasses)

1. Order Received- The manufacturing process begins with the receipt of a customer order specifying quantities and types of paper products such as plates, cups, bowls, and glasses. This order is logged into the company's order management system, triggering coordination between the sales, production planning, and inventory teams. Detailed specifications, delivery timelines, and quality requirements are reviewed to ensure accuracy and feasibility. The confirmed order acts as the foundation for scheduling production runs, allocating raw materials, and managing workforce resources, setting the entire manufacturing workflow in motion.
2. Finished Goods Inventory Check- At this stage, products are inspected for quantity, labeling accuracy, packaging integrity, and compliance with quality standards. Inventory are updated to reflect current stock levels, ensuring alignment with dispatch schedules and customer orders. Any discrepancies or damages identified are logged and addressed immediately to maintain consistency and reliability in supply. This critical checkpoint ensures that only approved and ready-to-ship goods proceed to the distribution phase, supporting efficient order fulfillment and customer satisfaction.
3. Checking the Inventory Threshold for Raw Materials- At this stage, the inventory of essential raw materials such as paper pulp, coatings, adhesives, and packaging supplies are reviewed against predefined minimum threshold levels. This ensures there is sufficient stock to meet ongoing and upcoming production demands for paper plates, cups, bowls, and glasses. If the inventory falls below the threshold, automatic alerts trigger procurement actions to replenish supplies, preventing production delays. This proactive inventory control step is crucial for maintaining a smooth and uninterrupted manufacturing workflow. If the finished goods are enough to cater the upcoming orders, then it goes to the packaging stage and then dispatch of the finished goods. On the other hand, if the raw materials threshold in below the level, then it moves to the next stage.
4. Purchase of Raw Material Unloading, and Storage (Paper and other Material): The purchase of raw materials is a necessary step. Once raw materials such as paper rolls, coatings, and packaging supplies are procured based on production requirement. Upon arrival, the materials are unloaded at the designated receiving area, where they are checked for quantity and basic condition against the purchase order and delivery documents. After verification, the materials are moved to the appropriate storage areas. Paper rolls are typically stored in controlled conditions to prevent damage, while other supporting materials are organized based on type and usage frequency. Proper documentation and inventory entry are completed to maintain accurate stock levels for future production planning.

- 5. Printing of Paper with and without Coating: The next step after raw material storage is the printing of paper, which may be with or without coating depending on product requirements. Based on the production plan, paper rolls are taken from storage and loaded onto printing machines. If printing is required, designs, logos, or patterns specified for the order are applied to the paper using suitable inks and printing methods. In some cases, the paper used may already be coated to provide resistance to moisture or heat, while in others, coating may be applied after printing. The process ensures that the printed material aligns with the design specifications provided.
- 6. Cutting of Paper for specific Product (through Roll Slitting Machines): Once the paper is printed and coated as required, the next step involves cutting the paper to the appropriate sizes for each specific product. This is carried out using roll slitting machines, which are designed to cut large rolls of paper into narrower widths based on the dimensions needed for further processing. The machines are set according to the product specifications, and the paper is fed through to produce uniform rolls or sheets. These cut materials are then collected, labeled, and transferred to the forming or die-cutting section for shaping into the final product. This step ensures that the raw material is prepared in the correct format for efficient use in subsequent manufacturing stages.
- 7. Finished Goods for Sale / Further Usage: Once the products have been formed, trimmed, and inspected, they are moved to the finished goods stage. At this point, items that meet quality standards are counted, sorted, and packed according to order requirements or standard packaging guidelines. These finished goods are then stored in the designated finished goods warehouse. Depending on the nature of the product and business needs, the items are either kept ready for sale and dispatch against customer orders or held for further internal use, such as repackaging, bulk supply, or integration into combo packs. Proper documentation and inventory updates are carried out to track the availability and movement of these finished products.
- 8. Separate production process for different types of finished goods: A separate production process is followed for each type of finished goods to ensure that the specific design, size, and functional requirements are met. Based on the production schedule and order details, materials are routed to different machines and setups designated for each product category. For example, cup-making machines are configured to form and seal paper into cylindrical shapes, while plate and bowl production typically involves die-cutting and pressing operations. Each production line operates with equipment, molds, and tools suited to the respective product type. The separation of processes helps maintain consistency, manage material usage, and reduce cross-product variation. After forming, each product moves through its respective quality checks and packaging procedures before being transferred to the finished goods area.
- 9. Quality Check of Finished Products: In the manufacturing process of paper plates, cups, bowls, and glasses, quality check of finished products is an essential step carried out after the production of each item type. Once the products are formed and packed in batches, they are inspected to ensure they meet predefined quality standards. This includes checking for consistency in shape and size, proper sealing (for items like cups), smooth edges, coating integrity, and overall appearance. Any defects such as misprints, deformities, or structural weaknesses are identified during this stage. Non-conforming items are separated for rework or disposal, depending on company policy. The results of the quality check are documented, and only the approved batches proceed to final packaging or dispatch. This process helps maintain adherence to product specifications and order requirements.
- 10. Packaging: Approved items are grouped according to type, size, and quantity as per standard packing units or specific customer requirements. The products are then packed using suitable materials such as plastic wraps, paper sleeves, or cartons to protect them during handling and transportation. Packaging may also include labeling with relevant information such as product type, batch number, quantity, and manufacturing date. In some cases, branding elements or barcodes are also applied, depending on the distribution channel or client instructions. Once packed, the goods are moved to the finished goods storage area or prepared for dispatch. This step ensures that products are secured and organized for efficient storage, shipment, and tracking.

11. Sorting, Storage and Dispatch of Finished Goods: Once the products are packed, they are sorted based on product type, size, quantity, and order specifications. This sorting helps in organizing the inventory and preparing items for dispatch or bulk storage. The sorted goods are then moved to the finished goods warehouse, where they are stored in designated areas to maintain order and facilitate easy retrieval. Storage conditions are managed to prevent damage and maintain product quality. When a dispatch is scheduled, the relevant goods are picked from storage, checked against the Sales Order or delivery note, and prepared for loading. Dispatch includes generating the necessary documentation such as invoices, transport labels, and delivery challans. This step ensures the finished goods are systematically handled and made ready for shipment to customers or distribution points.

MANUFACTURING FLOWCHART OF PRODUCTS (Paper napkins, Tissues, Bags, Sheets and Food wraps)

1. Order Received- The manufacturing process initiates with the receiving of customer orders for various paper and packaging products, including napkins, tissues, bags, sheets and food wraps. Each order is carefully documented in the order management system, detailing product specifications, quantities, delivery deadlines, and any special requirements. This step involves close communication between the sales and production planning teams to confirm order accuracy and feasibility. The received order serves as the basis for scheduling production, allocating raw materials, and organizing resources, ensuring the company meets customer expectations efficiently and on time.
2. Finished Goods Inventory Check- The next step involves checking the finished goods inventory to determine if the requested paper napkins, tissues, bags, sheet or food wrap products are available for immediate dispatch. This verifies product quantity, quality, packaging standards, and compliance with order specifications. Accurate records are maintained in the inventory management system to ensure real-time stock visibility. If sufficient finished goods are available, the order can be fulfilled promptly; otherwise, production scheduling is adjusted to meet demand, minimizing lead times and ensuring customer satisfaction.

3. Checking the inventory threshold for Raw Materials- Once the finished goods inventory is assessed, the process moves to evaluating the stock levels of raw materials such as paper rolls, pulp, adhesives, food-safe coatings, and aluminium foil sheets. Inventory levels are compared against predefined minimum thresholds to ensure there are sufficient materials available for ongoing and upcoming production of napkins, tissues, bags, sheets, food wraps, and aluminium foil. If there are enough inventory to fulfill the order then the order are packed and dispatched. If raw material stocks fall below the threshold, procurement processes are triggered to replenish supplies promptly. This step is essential to prevent production delays and maintain a seamless manufacturing workflow aligned with order demands.
4. Purchase of Raw Material Unloading, and Storage (Paper and other Material): The procurement of raw materials, which include various grades of paper, aluminium foil, packaging film, and other necessary inputs depending on the product category (e.g., napkins, tissues, bags, sheets, food wraps, or foil products). These materials are sourced from approved vendors based on predefined quality standards and material specifications. Upon arrival at the facility, the raw materials are unloaded using appropriate handling equipment to minimize the risk of damage. Each batch undergoes a basic quality inspection to check for physical defects, moisture content, and compliance with purchase requirements. The materials are subsequently stored in designated storage areas such as dry storage for paper products and temperature-controlled environments for sensitive components to preserve their quality and ensure readiness for further processing. This stage is critical for maintaining consistent production standards and minimizing disruptions in the downstream manufacturing stages.
5. Different Production Machines for different products (includes printing and cutting): Once the raw materials are prepared for use, the production process continues with the operation of different machines designated for specific product types such as paper napkins, tissues, bags, sheets, food wraps, and aluminium foil. Each product category requires tailored equipment configured for the particular manufacturing requirements. These machines are set up to perform multiple functions, including unwinding the raw material, printing (where required), folding, shaping, and cutting to desired sizes and patterns. For products like napkins and tissues, folding and embossing machines are used, while bag and sheet production may involve sealing and perforation units. Printing units are utilized to apply functional or branding elements as per customer or internal specifications. Operators ensure that each machine is calibrated according to the material type and production batch, and monitor the process to maintain consistent quality and minimize material waste. This step ensures that each product is processed in alignment with defined parameters before moving on to finishing and packaging.
6. Quality Check for Finished Products: After the production stage, all finished products including paper napkins, tissues, paper bags, sheets, food wraps, and aluminium foil undergo a structured quality control process. This step involves inspecting each batch against defined quality parameters such as dimensions, weight, structural integrity, print clarity, edge finishing, folding accuracy, and packaging compliance. Products are checked for defects such as misprints, improper cuts, tears, or contamination. The inspection is carried out using a combination of manual checks and automated systems where applicable. Samples may also be tested for strength, absorbency, or barrier properties depending on the type of product. Any non-conforming items are segregated for rework or disposal. The objective of this stage is to ensure that only those products meeting internal quality standards and relevant regulatory or customer specifications proceed to the packaging and dispatch phase.
7. Packaging: Following the quality inspection, products that meet the specified standards are moved to the packaging stage. This step involves organizing and packing paper napkins, tissues, bags, sheets, food wraps, and aluminium foil into appropriate packaging formats based on product type, size, quantity, and customer or distribution requirements. The packaging process may include folding, stacking, wrapping, sealing, labelling, and boxing. Automated and manual packing lines are used depending on the product and volume. Labels are applied to indicate product details such as batch number, date of manufacture, and specifications for traceability. Care is taken to ensure that packaging materials are compatible with the nature of the product such as moisture-resistant wrapping for tissues or foil-safe containers for aluminium products. Proper packing not only protects the product during storage and transportation but also facilitates efficient handling in the supply chain. After packaging, finished goods are transferred to the storage or dispatch area based on the production schedule and delivery timelines.

- 8. Sorting, Storage and Dispatch of the finished goods: Once the packaging process is complete, the finished goods are moved to the sorting area where they are organized according to product type, size, batch number, and destination. This step helps in streamlining inventory management and preparing goods for timely dispatch. Products such as paper napkins, tissues, bags, sheets, food wraps, and aluminium foil are carefully categorized based on customer orders, stock levels, or distribution schedules. After sorting, the items are transferred to designated storage zones within the warehouse under conditions that preserve their integrity, such as dry and clean environments for paper products and temperature-controlled areas for specific items when required. As per order fulfillment timelines, goods are picked, loaded, and dispatched using appropriate transportation. Documentation including packing lists, invoices, and shipping labels is prepared to accompany each shipment, ensuring traceability and compliance with delivery requirements. This final stage supports organized logistics and facilitates smooth delivery to customers or distribution centers.

SAFETY MEASURES TAKEN FOR THE WORKERS

As a manufacturing company and contractors for esteemed clients, safety cannot be compromised as we work in external environments which are not controlled by us. Hence, it is critically important that our skilled and unskilled labor and technicians are constantly following safety protocols. While project managers and the concerned authorities always overlook the manpower during processes, certain rules and protocols are maintained and followed. Complete vigilance is in play when out at site through the following measures:

1. Prior to sending them on site, a safety training is done via the concerned authorities;
2. Helmets and safety shoes are provided for men who are working with heavy loads and maintain safety;
3. Machinery is provided for every product to reduce dependency on manual tasks and escalate the process;
4. Visits by project managers and supervisors to ensure product quality is maintained and wastage is in control are being followed.

TRANSPORTATION

With regard to raw materials, freight charges are typically handled directly with our suppliers. In most cases, the freight is paid to the suppliers, eliminating the need for direct payments to transporters. However, in certain instances, we pay freight directly to transport service providers. For finished goods, freight costs are generally borne by the customers, and as such, we do not incur freight expenses for domestic deliveries. The only exception to this arrangement is in the case of exports, where the company manages and pays for freight as part of the delivery process.

Reason for the Delay in Trademark Filing and Steps Taken to Address

Utkal Speciality Industries India Limited has consistently recognized the importance of protecting its intellectual property and brand identity. However, during the initial phase of business operations, the filing of trademarks was inadvertently delayed due to the company's strategic focus on core expansion activities. These included establishing robust manufacturing infrastructure, extending market reach, and securing critical supplier and customer relationships areas that required immediate operational attention to support long-term growth. The company is now actively addressing the trademark registration process as part of its broader initiative to safeguard its brand assets and strengthen its market presence.

Illustration of the Book Building and Price Discovery Process:

Bidders should note that this example is solely for illustrative purposes and is not specific to the Offer; it also excludes Bidding by Anchor Investors. Bidders can bid at any price within the Price Band. For instance, assume a Price Band of ₹20 to ₹ 24 per share, Offer size of 3,000 Equity Shares and receipt of five Bids from Bidders, details of which are shown in the table below. The illustrative book given below shows the demand for the Equity Shares of the Issuer at various prices and is collated from Bids received from various investors.

Bid Quantity	Bid Amount (₹)	Cumulative Quantity	Subscription
500	24	500	16.67%
1,000	23	1,500	50.00%
1,500	22	3,000	100.00%
2,000	21	5,000	166.67%
2,500	20	7,500	250.00%

The price discovery is a function of demand at various prices. The highest price at which the Issuer is able to Offer the desired number of Equity Shares is the price at which the book cuts off, i.e., ₹ 22.00 in the above example. The Issuer, in consultation with the BRLM, may finalize the Offer Price at or below such Cut-Off Price, i.e., at or below ₹ 22.00. All Bids at or above this Offer Price and cut-off Bids are valid Bids and are considered for allocation in the respective categories.

RESTRICTIONS ON FOREIGN OWNERSHIP OF INDIAN SECURITIES

Foreign investment in Indian securities is regulated through the Industrial Policy, 1991 of the Government of India and FEMA. While the Industrial Policy, 1991 prescribes the limits and the conditions subject to which foreign investment can be made in different sectors of the Indian economy, FEMA regulates the precise manner in which such investment may be made. Under the Industrial Policy, unless specifically restricted, foreign investment is freely permitted in all sectors of the Indian economy up to any extent and without any prior approvals, but the foreign investor is required to follow certain prescribed procedures for making such investment. The RBI and the concerned ministries/departments are responsible for granting approval for foreign investment. The Government has from time to time made policy pronouncements on Foreign Direct Investments (FDI) through press notes and press releases. The regulatory framework, over a period of time, thus, consists of acts, regulations, press notes, press releases, and clarifications among other amendments. The Department for Promotion of Industry and Internal Trade, Ministry of Commerce and Industry, Government of India (earlier known as Department of Industrial Policy and Promotion) (“DPIIT”), issued the Consolidated FDI Policy Circular of 2020 (“Consolidated FDI Policy”), which, with effect from October 15, 2020, consolidates and supersedes all previous press notes, press releases and clarifications on FDI issued by the DPIIT, which were in force and effect prior to October 15, 2020. The Consolidated FDI Policy will be valid and remain in force until superseded in totality or in part thereof and shall be subject to FEMA Non-Debt Instruments Rules. FDI in companies engaged in sectors/ activities which are not listed in the FDI Policy is permitted up to 100% of the paid-up share capital of such company under the automatic route, subject to compliance with certain prescribed conditions.

As per the Consolidated FDI Policy, FDI in companies engaged in electronics hardware manufacturing, which is the sector in which our Company operates, is permitted up to 100% of the paid-up share capital of such company under the automatic route. However, investments under the foreign direct investment route by entities of a country which shares border with India or where the beneficial owner of an investment into India is situated in or is a citizen of any such country will require prior approval of the Government of India.

The transfer of shares between an Indian resident and a non-resident does not require the prior approval of the RBI, provided that: (i) the activities of the investee company are under the automatic route under the foreign direct investment policy and transfer does not attract the provisions of the SEBI Takeover Regulations; (ii) the non-resident shareholding is within the sectoral limits under the Consolidated FDI policy; and (iii) the pricing is in accordance with the guidelines prescribed by the SEBI/RBI.
